OF THE NEW DEALAttorney - General Cum-

One to Be Decided.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—To hasten a final decision, the Supreme Court today consolidated four cases challenging the congressional abrogation of gold clauses
in contracts and set them for hearing on Jan. 8. It has been estimated that as much as $100,000,000 is involved in the question.Consolidation of the four cases was made at the request of James Crawford Biggs, United States Society-General.So important does the administration consider the question that Attorney-General Cummings will argue the cases before the Supreme Court. Ordinarily the Solicitor-General appears for the Government.The legislation, passed June 5, 1933, set aside the provision in contracts that payments must be made in gold and prohibited such payments. The suits were based on the contention that after devaluation of the dollar payments would be made in currency worth only 59.06 per cent as much as before. The Government contends that the purchasing power of the currency did not depreciate nearly so much and that the welfare of the many instead of the few should control.One of the cases grew out of the reorganization of the Missouri Pacific Railroad, another between Nathan C. Norman of New York and the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.
The other two were brought against the United States by John M. Perry and Eugene Nantz, both of New York.ARRESTED AS EMBEZZLER
AFTER 10 COMPANIES FAILFrenchman, Who Made Fortune in Three Years by Speculating, Held in Paris.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Nov. 19.—Charles Levy, who rose in three years from a post of clerk to the position of one of the wealthiest men in France, was arrested yesterday on charges of embezzlement.The arrest grew out of the collapse of Levy's 10 companies, and followed that of his cousin, Joseph Levy, in a series of moves by the Cabinet of Pierre-Etienne Flandin to clean up financial scandals.
Levy, who came to Paris from Algeria in 1923, started his career as a clerk. Speculation in sugar and commodities brought him a fortune in three years. He was decorated by the Legion of Honor in 1926.
Companies he formed with his cousin floated more than a billion francs in bonds.TWO WOMEN PLUNGE FROM

Per Cent Is Considered
"Good."

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—The Relief Administration, accused of "shameful waste" by Senator Borah, announced today that 11.6 per cent of relief expenditures during August went to pay administrative costs.Officials said this compared with administrative expenses amounting to 11.3 per cent of total relief outlays for July and 10.8 per cent for May and June. They asserted the increase in recent months was largely the result of well-directed and other drought relief activities which for one reason or another had been charged to administration.
Spokesmen said anything below 14 per cent was considered "good administration."PRIEST GETS FOUR MONTHS

TORONTO, Ontario, Nov. 19.—
Justice J. A. McEvoy today sentenced the Rev. Peter Bart to four months' imprisonment on a charge of criminal negligence arising from the death more than a year ago of a 15-year-old boy, struck by an au-

Father Bart's third trial.
Fred Rose, caddy at the Thorn-

the victim. Father Bart admitted having taken three drinks of whis-

his driving was not affected by the liquor.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19.—Two bodies lie today on the beach of Marchena Island in the Galapagos group, just as a fishing boat captain found them Saturday. They were identified tentatively as those of Arthur Wittmer, a German, and his wife, who presumably died of starvation and thirst when they were marooned after venturing from their home on Charles Island in the same insular group.Manuel Rodriguez, skipper of the tuna clipper Santa Amaro, and his radio operator, James Ellis, prowling
the beach on the barren island, found the bodies.Furnished with descriptions of the German couple by Capt. G. Allan Hancock, a Los Angeles explorer who knew them, Capt. Rodriguez advised Mackay radio station here he definitely had identified one of the bodies as Wittmer, and said the second body was probably that of a woman, the wife of the adventurer."Second Body May Be Man's,"
There was also a possibility the second body might be that of Alfred Rudolph Lorenz of Paris, France, who was one of a group of adventurers who sought solitude on Charles Island.A passport bearing Lorenz's name was found on the body of the man identified as Wittmer. A packet of letters was found near the second body.From a letter addressed by Mrs.
Wittmer to Capt. Hancock at his home in Los Angeles, was this excerpt:"Must hurry now and complete this, because Arthur is waiting to take it to Lorenz, who is waiting in his sloop off Santa Maria Island to take the mail to San Cristobal."It seems to me Mr. and Mrs.
Wittmer started out from Charles Island to contact Lorenz on one of the other islands," said Capt. Hancock. "They apparently were swept northward across the Equator by a sudden storm. At any rate, the meager description of the bodies received here indicate to me the victims of one clamping storm."Parents of Two Children.
The Wittmers were the parents of a 2-year-old girl and a 14-year-old boy. They lived on the lonely island with Dr. Frederick Ritter and Dora Karwin, German nurses.Near the smaller body was a bundle of infant's clothing, but there was no trace of a child's body. Capt.
Hancock said he had presented a supply of clothing to Mrs. Wittmer for her baby when he was at Charles Island last February.There was also a possibility, providing the skipper of the tuna boat had erred in making his identification of Wittmer, that the two bodies might be those of Baroness von Wagner and a man named Phillips, who lived on Charles Island with the Wittmers. Their present whereabouts is unknown.Capt. Rodriguez, after taking all the evidence that might point to identification of the pair found on the beach, left the bodies where he found them, Mackay Radio here was informed.ROOSEVELT AT WARM SPRINGS

Two more farmers were sen-

and theft of Government property, bringing to eight the total number of men ordered to face a firing squad for neglect of the cotton crop.The Uzbekistan Supreme Court still is holding trials on other col-defendants.The latest men condemned were

M. Kadyrov and Mamaroul Mama-man, respectively, of the harvesting department of the collective farms.The farm fulfilled only 2.8 per cent of its cotton quota, the worst record so far revealed in the trials.

The defendants were charged with destroying 200 acres of cotton by discharging "shock workers" on trumped up charges, and also with the theft of livestock, wheat and 1200 rubles belonging to the farm.

By the Associated Press.

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 19.—The Legislative Council, which met here last week to prepare a program for the coming session of the Kansas Legislature, has approved two measures in the interest of more efficient criminal justice.One would give the State the same number of challenges as the defense in criminal cases. At present, the State has one-half as many challenges as the defense. The other bill would require advance notice when an alibi is to be offered in defense, so that the prosecution may check up on it.The Legislative Council, established by act of the 1933 Assembly, and known as the "little legislature," is composed of 10 Senators, 15 Representatives and the presiding officers of both houses.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—The

ported an increase of 8 per cent in the production of leather footwear and of 27 per cent in shoe exports during the first half of 1934, over 1933 figures. The largest increase was in men's work shoes, production of which was expanded more than 28 per cent. There was an increase of 7 1/2 per cent in women's and 8 per cent in infants' shoes.Exports of all leather footwear during the first half of 1934 amounted to 470,465 pairs compared to 370,083 pairs in the corresponding period of 1933.

"1933 and-or 1934."He was hearing a motion by the company to dismiss the bankruptcy petition on several grounds. The motion was overruled, but the Court, his eye catching the dictum so offensive to him, remarked, "If you had moved for dismissal because of this language, you would have been sustained. The pleader should have pleaded that the debts were contracted by delivery of merchandise in 1933 or 1934 or by delivery of

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—A wind and rain storm swept Northern California yesterday, while in the Sierra Nevada highland crews fought large drifts of snow.Three men were drowned in San Francisco Bay, but the 14-year-old son of one of the drowned men was boated for more than three hours until he was rescued. Those drowned were: Jose Duarte, C. G. Silva and Johnny Costa, all of San Leandro. Walter Duarte grabbed the gunwale of the tossing boat and hung on while the three men were swept away.More than three feet of snow was reported at Donner Summit. Depths at other mountain points ranged from a foot to three feet. In the San Francisco Bay area, the storm uprooted trees, interrupted electric and telephone service, choked street drains and flooded basements.A heavy rain and snow storm swept over Northern Utah. Eighteen inches of snow fell on the watershed in the Wasatch Mountains, increasing the total depth to 24 inches—four times the amount on the corresponding date last year.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Easing up the drastic crop reduction program, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace announced today that midwestern farmers in 1935 will be asked to keep corn acreage and hog numbers only 10 per cent below their 1932-33 average.The reductions compare with the 20 and 30 per cent cut in corn and 25 per cent cut in hogs required under the 1934 contract.The maximum corn acreage that the new contract signers may plant is 90 per cent of their average during the 1932 and 1933 base period.
They may, however, make a 30 per cent cut in acreage, growing a minimum of 70 per cent of the base period, and receive benefit payments for the additional 20 per cent reduction.The 90 per cent maximum, assuming a return to normal weather conditions, will permit the production of about 250,000,000 bushels of corn in excess of estimated requirements for livestock feeding.The excess, if produced, will again be sealed under a continuation of the corn loan program, Wallace intimated. Only farmers who sign the acreage adjustment contract will be eligible to receive loans on corn they store and thus keep off the market.The maximum of 90 per cent on hogs will apply only to those produced for market from 1935 litters, with no limitation on purchases of feeder pigs from other contract signers. Pigs bought from nonsigners will be limited as before to the average number bought during the base period.Total adjustment payments to farmers, it was estimated, will be between $150,000,000 and $165,000,000 in 1935. Funds for the payments will be raised by continuing the processing taxes of $2.25 a hundred-weight on hogs and 5 cents a bushel on corn through the year beginning Nov. 5, 1935.35 Cents for Corn.
All taxes collected during the marketing years 1933-34 and 1934-35 will be needed for the $300,000,000
of adjustment payments for last year's pig-purchase and this year's corn-hog reduction programs.Adjustment payments for corn reductions will be made at the rate of 35 cents a bushel of yield estimated for the acres taken out of production. Payments for 1934 were made at the rate of 30 cents a bushel.The first payment of 15 cents a bushel will be made as soon as signers' contracts are approved.
The rest, less the producer's share
of local administrative expenses,
will be paid on or about Jan. 1, 1936.Hog payments will be at the rate of $15 per head for the number produced. This compared with $5 a head under the 25 per cent reduction this year.In other words, a farmer whose base period production was 20 hogs and who raised only 15 in 1934 was paid $5 for each hog raised, or a total of $75. The same farmer, under the 1935 contracts, would be paid $15 for each of the five hogs
he did not raise, or $75.Upon acceptance of the producer's hog contract he will receive $7.50 per head of the $15 due, getting the rest about Jan. 1, 1936.Predicts Income Increase.
Wallace said that because of the smaller percentage of adjustment in hog numbers the total hog payments per farm would not be so high during the last year, but that the producer's total income, including his return from the increased number of hogs, would be larger.Farmers who reduce corn acreage in 1935 will not be required to set aside a definite tract of land as "contracted acres," as was required
this year, and may rent to the Government any acreage with a corn history.This change was made to simplify the program.

day, and leaders of the campaign
are hopeful that the half way mark toward the goal will be reached within a few days.

Plea From William L. Igoe.
The purposes for which money raised in the campaign will be used were discussed during the Community Forum program on Station KSD yesterday by William L. Igoe, president of the Board of Police Commissioners.

"We know that you have heard,
time and again," Igoe said, "that Government relief is given only to those whose misfortune is a direct result of unemployment, but we feel that do not provide any means
of making life more pleasant in these sections. Settlements and boys clubs with varied programs
provide spare time recreation and
occupation for all members of the family from the child of pre-school
age to the adult."

"Anyone driving through certain sections of the city and county," he continued, "knows that under the living conditions plainly visible, delinquency will thrive and crime will be encouraged. Yet Government relief funds do not provide any means
of making life more pleasant in
these sections. Settlements and
boys clubs with varied programs
provide spare time recreation and
occupation for all members of the
family from the child of pre-school
age to the adult."

"Turning to another phase of the work of United Relief agencies, Igoe mentioned that last year 6967
families, in distress for some reason other than simply unemployment, were helped.

"Some lacked food and fuel," he said. "Others needed shelter and clothing. Still others, deserted by the breadwinner, were in need of every necessity of life. In other words, no matter what the cause, family relief was supplied and is being supplied every day to those in need in St. Louis and St. Louis County, by the agencies supported by United Relief contributions."

MOTHER OF EIGHT FINED $25 AS FORTUNE TELLER, GETS STAY

Mrs. Lena George Pleads That She Needs Money for Support of Children.
Mrs. Lena George, 619 Elm street, was fined $25 by Police Judge Finnean today on a charge of fortune telling. The fine was stayed, however, on her plea that she had eight children and needed the money for their support.

A policeman testified that a few days ago she was passing the defendant's home when Mrs.
George, attired in Gypsy costume, hailed her and offered to tell her fortune for 50 cents. The policeman paid her and was told that she was unhappy with her husband and was about to start on a long journey. Mrs. George was then arrested. She denied the charge of fortune telling, saying she was a phenologist.

SPOT ZONING BILL BEFORE ALDERMEN FOR FOURTH TIME

Proposal Would Permit the Operation of Garage at 3414

The Legislation Committee of the Board of Aldermen will hold a public hearing at City Hall at 10 a. m. on Dec. 11 on a bill to change the zone of a lot at 3414 Iowa avenue from multiple dwelling to commercial to permit operation of a garage.
This is the fourth time the bill has been before the board. It has been defeated twice and the last time was vetoed by Mayor Dickmann,
Nov. 28, 1933.

The proposed change has been denounced by the General Council Civic Needs as "spot zoning," that is changing the zone of a single lot without regard for the zoning characteristics of the rest of the neighborhood. The Mayor, in his veto message also characterized it as spot zoning and said that he felt "confident that it is against the wishes of the home owners in the neighborhood to have this property turned into a filling station, parking lot and garage."

Robert E. Hannegan, chairman of the Democratic City Committee, appeared before the Aldermen in support of the bill last year.

KILLING OF WOMAN LAID TO DELUSIONS OF ODD JOB MAN

Denver Police Say Rug Weaver Also Had Quarreled With Employer
Over Hours of Work.

By the Associated Press.

DENVER, Nov. 19.—Delusions and differences over the hours of his odd-jobs duties, police said today, led an Armenian rug weaver to hack to death Mrs. Lillian Sarkisian, 58 years old, Denver business and society woman.

C. J. Burns, Assistant Captain of Detectives, said Abraham L. Kloian, 58, disclosed in his written confession he also had intended to kill John Narsies, at whose home the weaver was arrested Saturday night a few hours after Mrs. Sarkisian's death. The presence of several children caused Kloian to give up his plan to kill Narsies, he said.

Kloian was employed as a handy man in a rug shop operated by Mrs. Sarkisian and her husband,
Dr. Toros Sarkisian. Police quoted him as saying the Sarkisians had worked him long hours at low pay and tried to "cheat" him.

The prisoner added Mrs. Sarkisian and Mrs. Narsies had tried to "frame" him. This point was not made clear, Burns said, but it was thought the prisoner feared he would be unable to pay for a house
he purchased on the installment plan.

Burns, who said Kloian would be charged with first degree murder, declared the weaver's account of the killing was rambling and that he apparently was suffering from delusions.

JUDGE DELAYS SIGNING ORDERS IN VANDERBILT CASE

Interrupted at Another Trial, He Sends Word He Wants Time to Look Them Over.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Two orders constituting a plan for the care of Gloria Vanderbilt, 10-year-old heiress, were submitted to Justice John F. Carew today as he was hearing another case in Supreme Court.

Attorneys representing Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt, mother of the child, who sued to regain custody, and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, paternal aunt who has custody of the girl, waited for some time in Justice Carew's chambers. Finally they took the orders to the courtroom and handed them to the Justice. Later he sent them word that they might as well leave, as he would look them over and sign them later.

The attorneys were Theodore G.
Miller, counsel to Mrs. Whitney, and James A. Murray, representing Mrs.
Vanderbilt. They were accompanied by Theodore G. Gichrist, co-guardian of the child's estate.

Miller said the order which he submitted was substantially as that previously published and which provided the child remain with Mrs.
Whitney five days of the week and be with Mrs. Vanderbilt for weekends. Gichrist said the orders submitted by opposing counsel were substantially the same, varying only in detail.

TAX LEAGUE'S SUIT DISMISSED

County Group Sought $6470 Damages From George W. Baumhoff.

A damage suit for $6470 by the Taxpayers' League of St. Louis County against George W. Baumhoff, a former president, was dismissed by Circuit Judge McElhinney at Clayton today on Baumhoff's motion that the question of damages had been settled in other litigation.

The action for damages was based on the league's allegation that Baumhoff retained records and membership lists of the league for about two and a half years after he severed connection with the organization in 1930. The records later were obtained by replevin.

WOMAN SHOOT SLEEPING HUSBAND AND WOUNDS SELF

Mrs. Ray Taylor Fires Revolver at Man as He Takes Nap on Divan at 1480 Burd Avenue.

Awakened from an afternoon nap
yesterday at his home at 1480 Burd avenue by the sound of shots, Ray Taylor jumped from the divan, wrenched a revolver from his wife
as she shot herself, then found he himself had been shot. She suffered a superficial wound on the abdomen; he a wound which caused a fracture of the left forearm.

Mrs. Taylor, 33 years old, told a Post-Dispatch reporter at City Hospital today that she shot her husband as the result of six months of quarreling over her opinion that he was in love with another woman.
Taylor, 33, denied there was any basis for jealousy and said his absences from home at night were due to the exigencies of his work as chauffeur of long-distance hauling trucks.

"He was out all Saturday night," Mrs. Taylor said. "Yesterday morning I went to a tavern at Washington boulevard and Vandeventer avenue, got him, and drove his car home. We began to quarrel and he lay down on the divan in the living room."

"We quarreled on and off all afternoon. About 6 o'clock I got a revolver I had bought for protection because I was alone at home so much, and shot at him twice. I thought he was awake at the time, but he was asleep."

"He jumped up and wrestled with me. The revolver went off again. I don't know whether I intended to shoot myself or whether it went off accidentally. He took it from me, then went out and called the police."

"I am sorry it turned out this way. I told him yesterday he would have to choose between me and that other woman, and he said he'd rather take her. But I would go back to him tomorrow, if he would have me."

Taylor, married six years, told
the same story of the shooting,
but emphatically denied his wife had cause for jealousy. He said he would not prosecute her, but when he was told she was willing to become reconciled again, he grinned and replied:

"Not for me. I can't go back.
I'd never know when she might do the same thing again."

MISSING CHILD FOUND

JACKIE GIBBONS.

DRIVER WHO KILLED 3, DIES

NORCO, La., Nov. 19.—Warren A.
Mackie Jr., 17-year-old Tulane University student, who wrecked his grandmother's automobile and then,
officers said, stole a second car in which he crashed into another machine, killing three persons, died last night.

Mackie, after driving off in the automobile he found parked on a street shortly after midnight Saturday, was being followed by a State highway policeman and the owner of the car, when he hit a machine occupied by six persons, who were driving slowly along the highway during the intermission of a dance. The car burst into flames and two young women, Miss Myrtle Berteau, 21, of Geismar, and Miss Martha Landry, 19, of Litcher, were burned to death. Harold L.
Bowman, 18, of Litcher, was seriously burned in attempting to rescue the young women, and died several hours later.

He reported to police, who arrested the girl and took charge of the youngster. Officers who had been seeking the boy came to aid in the case. One left with the child last night for Lexington. The other officers planned to leave today with
the girl.

MISSING BOY, 4, FOUND WITH GIRL, 18

Thought to Be "A Fanatic About Kids," She Is Charged With Kidnaping.

By the Associated Press.

CHATANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 19.—
An 18-year-old girl who likes children was charged today with kidnaping Jackie Gibbons, 4, while the boy was taken home to his parents in Lexington, Ky.

The boy accompanied the girl from his home last Thursday, and a newspaper story of his disappearance led to his discovery and return. The girl was booked at the police station as Bernice Lou Givens. She gave a Cincinnati address.

Sergeant G. W. Maupin, expressing doubt that the case was one of kidnaping, said: "I believe she was just kind of a fanatic about kids, and she took a liking to this little boy and let him go along with her."

It was a bag of candy that first attracted the boy to her, the girl told Maupin; and it was his tears, when she tried to leave him, that induced her to take him with her.

She was walking past the boy's home in Lexington, Maupin said
she told him, when the child asked:
"What's in that sack?"

"I said 'candy,' " Maupin quoted her as saying, "and I gave him a piece, and he went along with me."

She said she told the boy to "go back," and tried to leave him, but at that he began to cry.

"I decided to take him along with me," the Sergeant quoted her as saying, "and if they caught me, I would tell them the whole thing."

Lawrence Harvey, who allowed the two to stay at his modest home over Saturday night, heard from the boy yesterday morning that his name was Jackie Gibbons and a short time later read a newspaper story that a child of that name was missing.

He reported to police, who arrested the girl and took charge of the youngster. Officers who had been
case. One left with the child last night for Lexington. The other officers planned to leave today with
the girl.

WIFE AND FARM HAND ARE HELD FOR KILLING

Negro Says He Was Promised Lifelong Job for Shooting Husband.

By the Associated Press.

MADISONVILLE, Ky., Nov. 19.—A white farmer's wife and a Negro farmhand were held without bail today after the Negro was alleged to have confessed he killed the woman's husband on her promise of "a home and a job for the rest of his life."

The Negro, James Childers, 19 years old, was taken in custody as a material witness after his employer, James C. Woodruff, was found mortally wounded. Childers said a white man whom they found taking corn killed Woodruff in a pistol fight.

County Attorney J. T. Gooch announced that Childers later admitted Mrs. Mabel Woodruff showed him where he could find a loaded pistol and advised him to kill her husband. The widow was arrested on a charge of aiding and abetting murder.

Mrs. Woodruff denied the Negro's story, but refused to say anything more about the case.

TILED ROOF COLLAPSES

Six-Year-Old Building in University City Damaged.

The tiled gable roof of a two-story brick flat at 7333 Dartmouth avenue, University City, collapsed at 10:45 a. m. yesterday. Only a few pieces of plaster fell inside the building and no one was injured. The building is about six years old. A crowd, including churchgoers, was attracted by the noise of the collapse. University City firemen roped off the yard of the flat and workmen began dismantling the roof.

SHOWDOWN ASKED FOR ON NEW RETAIL COAL PRICE SCALE

Member of Code Authority Says Something Must Be Done at Once About Open Defiance.

REVISED SCHEDULE
PLACED IN EFFECT

One Company Frankly Ignores Fixed Figures and Others Apparently Underquote in Ads.

The new established retail coal prices for St. Louis became formally effective today with one dealer openly defying the code authority to enforce the NRA schedule and some others quoting prices apparently below the scale.

George W. Curran, legal adviser of Divisional Code Authority No. 32 of the Retail Solid Fuel Industry, said that it was anticipated that members of the industry would promptly file complaints, against those underselling the schedule, with the recently created Trade Practice Complaint and Compliance Committee named by the divisional authority.

Curran, who is a member of the authority, announced after examining advertisements of dealers that "we have to have a showdown right away—no question about it."

Procedure to Be Followed.

Offering coal for sale at prices below the schedule, he pointed out, constitutes a violation of the code as much as conducting the actual sales. On receipt of complaints the compliance committee conducts a hearing in executive session. If the evidence justifies it, the committee may place its findings for prosecution before the Department of Justice or any appropriate NRA agency.

The divisional authority, Curran pointed out, possesses the power to seek a Federal injunction restraining code violations. If such action should "be deemed advisable," the procedure would be for the local authority to submit information to the Compliance Division of the NRA at Washington with the recommendation that the injunction be sought.

The new prices, including a price of about $5 a ton for Belleville standard coal, used by most persons of moderate means, were instituted, Curran said, "for the purpose of giving members of the industry a fair living."

Based on Minimum Cost.

Curran said the prices were based on minimum costs and predicated on adherence to NRA wages and hours. Only through established prices, he said, would it be possible to govern individual dealers who drive their own trucks and deliver direct from the mines.

"It must be remembered in considering the welfare of the public," Curran said, "that 10,000 members of the industry and their families constitute an integral part of the public. Conditions in the industry have become so chaotic & due partly to the advent of 'self-operators,' newcomers in the business, that

The new price on Belleville standard coal is 30 cents lower than the original schedule promulgated by the code authority last May, but disavowed by NRA authorities at Washington after popular protest, and about $1.25 higher than market quotations which prevailed prior to the formal institution of the schedule today.

The Coal Service Co., Twenty-third and Papin streets, was offering this grade of coal today at $4 a ton in load lots, a dollar below the schedule, or $4.50 in single ton orders. It advertised its prices as applicable "today, next week, or next month."

Its spokesman and sales manager, Louis L. Horen, who has fought "price-fixing" since its inception, said that his firm was paying "NRA wages and NRA hours, making a fair and reasonable profit and at the same time not gouging the public."

Other Below Scale Prices.

Prices apparently below the schedule advertised today by other dealers offered clean lump coal at $4 a ton in ton lots, while quotations for purchases of several tons "in load lots" included such prices as $3.25 and $3 a ton.

Acting on unofficial reports that an attempt might be made by some truckers to institute a boycott of "inner group" mines selling coal to dealers not adhering to code prices, 14 St. Clair County Deputy Sheriffs visited 10 mines early today while eight Illinois State highway officers patrolled the roads to see that traffic was not blocked.

OFFICER HEARS CONVERSATION, ARRESTS FOUR AS THIEVES

Finds Broken Cigarette Machine, Stolen From Hamburger Stand.

As he passed the Twentieth Ward Democratic Club, 2742 North Vandeventer avenue, early yesterday, Patrolman Oliver Yanick heard men talking inside and stopped to listen.

"Let's break open the machine," he reported one man, said. "No," spoke up another, "you'll have all the cops from the Dayton Street District down here if you do." A third said, "Boy, you sure took a chance."

Yanick halted a passing scout car. With other officers, he went into the club. Four young men, 19, 21, 22 and 24 years old, all members of the club, were standing near a cigarette vending machine which had been broken open. In a basket were cigarettes valued at $11.70 and in possession of one of the young men 15 nickels.

The machine, valued at $106, had been stolen in a burglary of the hamburger stand of Edward Tobias at 2822 North Vandeventer. The four were arrested. All insisted they knew nothing about the machine and the conversation Yanick reported he heard.

TVA OFFICIAL ARRIVES IN CITY FOR TWO TALKS

Dr. Floyd W. Reeves Discusses Aims of Government Project.

Dr. Floyd W. Reeves, director of the social and economics and personnel divisions of the Tennessee Valley Authority, was in St. Louis today for two speeches on the work of the TVA.

"In the last analysis," he told reporters at the breakfast table at the Mayfair Hotel, "the TVA is seeking just one thing—to find out if it is possible through planning to raise the general standard of living. It is making the experiment in a limited activity, but never for a moment can it lose sight of the fact that the results of the experiment are desired for national application. The New Deal cannot succeed unless the people are prepared to live in it, for it is essentially a new way of life."

"President Roosevelt, at the beginning of his administration, had two major problems to solve: First, to assist in devising a plan of national recovery; second, to prevent the recurrence of periodic depressions. The TVA is an experimental effort directed primarily toward the solution of the latter problem. There had been too little planning in previous years."

Work of Planning Agency.

The social and economic division, he explained, was charged, as a planning agency, with anticipating problems which would confront the Authority in the future and devising means of solving them.

"Planning in the social science fields," he added, "is not simple. It cannot succeed if superimposed upon the present pattern of life in the area. To be permanent, it must come through a redirection from within."

In addition, the division has handled questions of immediate nature, such as transfer of families from reservoir areas, development of educational facilities and social activities in communities of TVA employees, provision of commercial facilities, health work, studies of immediate reforestation, and studies of local governmental problems arising from TVA's activities. One of the future problems considered has been the control of malaria when shore lines are increased by the three dams of the system.

Agency Has Employed 12,000.

Dr. Reeves said his personnel division had employed 12,000 persons, from laborers to scientists and executives. Since 1929 he has been professor of education at the University of Chicago, being on leave of absence now. His present home is

EDWIN S. BROUSSARD, FORMER SENATOR, DIES

Defeated for Re-Election by Huey Long's Candidate in Louisiana.

By the Associated Press. NEW IBERIA, La., Nov. 19.—Former United States Senator Edwin S. Broussard died today at his residence here. He was defeated for re-election by Senator John H. Overton of Alexandria, who was supported by the political organization of Huey P. Long.

Mr. Broussard was 59 years old and was a native of New Iberia parish. He was a veteran of the Spanish-American War and served with the Taft commission in the Philippine Islands at Manila in 1899-1901. He was a law graduate of Tulane University. He was elected United States Senator in 1920 and re-elected in 1926.

In 1932 he was defeated in the Overton campaign and filed charges with the Senate which resulted in a prolonged Senate investigation into the Overton election. He charged ballot fraud by the forces of Senator Huey Long in the election of his successor. Enemies of the Long organization sought to oust both Long and Overton from the Senate. To date no action has been taken by the Senate against either Long or Overton.

MARGINAL LANDS TO BE WILD DUCK HAVENS

Government Hopes to Restore 1,000,000 Acres to Original State.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Jay N. Darling, chief of the Biological Survey, just back from a nationwide survey of the wild duck situation, said the Government hoped to restore 1,000,000 acres of marginal lands in the central plains to their original wild state before the next breeding season.

This program, Darling said, would greatly help duck propagation next year, but he said that other, and more drastic steps, may be required. It has been suggested that a season be closed on ducks in order to give them a chance to increase.

Many states, however, draw the funds for their game wardens from license fees, and would be forced to decrease their enforcement of game laws if the holiday were declared. This would encourage illegal hunting.

So a shorter season and further limitation of bags may be decreed to escape closing the season altogether.

DU PONT'S PROPOSE CONTROL OF ARMS, CURB ON PROFITS

Head of Firm in Letter to Senator Nye Suggests Regulation of International Trade.

By the Associated Press.

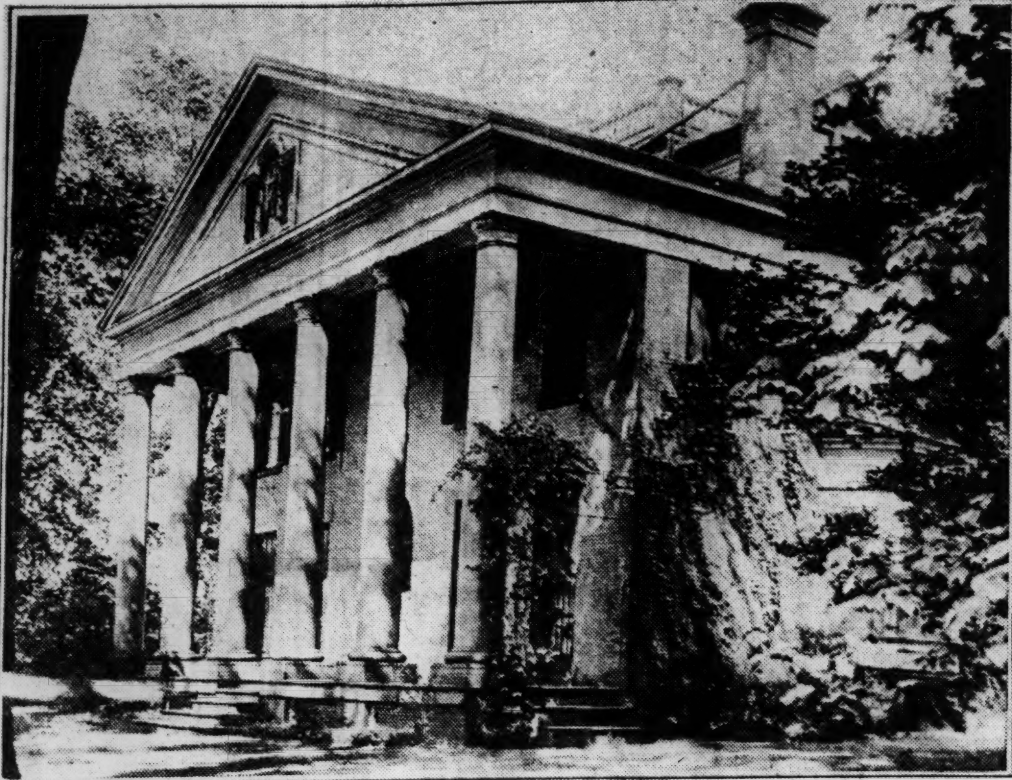

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19.—A double-barreled proposal to wipe out "extraordinary" war profits in munitions and set up strict governmental control of international trade in arms has been placed before the Senate Munitions Investigation Committee by E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co.

This stand was advocated by the huge munitions producing firm in a letter to the committee which the company made public last night, just as Senator Gerald P. Nye, North Dakota Republican and chairman of the investigating group, in an address here declared for destruction of the profit motive in the manufacture of munitions.

The duPont letter, signed by the president of the firm, Lamont duPont, urged appointment by Congress of a governmental commission, empowered to have sole direction over arms export from this country, and advocated such governmental control, "preferably by international agreement."

The United States already has asked other nations to join it in licensing munitions makers, exporters and importers. This step was decided on, it became known, when American officials abandoned hope

House Expected to Be Theodore Roosevelt Memorial

WILCOX mansion at Buffalo, N. Y., where Theodore Roosevelt was sworn in as President after William McKinley's death. The Theodore Roosevelt-Spanish War Veterans' Memorial Association plans to purchase and convert it into a shrine where annual "Theodore Roosevelt Assemblies on American Citizenship" would keep alive the Roosevelt ideals.

for any immediate general disarmament agreement.

In outlining its plan for curbing profits, the company recommended that "a thorough and detailed study be made by such an agency as Congress may determine, with the view of developing a practical and effective plan of industrial mobilization for national defense without excessive profits to corporation or individual."

"The time to make this study and elaborate a plan is now," the letter said, "when no immediate danger threatens our country."

Senator Nye referred briefly to the duPont letter, saying it seemed to him "a tremendous admission on their part."

"But believe me," he asserted, "the duPonts are not in favor of a Government monopoly, but they do admit there is something very rotten in the state of Denmark."

In his address at the Friends

Meeting House he assailed munitions makers as "the worst band of racketeers in the history of the world."

Nye's committee heard testimony from Lamont duPont and three members of his family, all connected with the munitions firm, last September, concerning the company's activities during the war as a large munitions producer.

Financiers, business executives, military experts and statesmen should apply their efforts to aiding the Government in tackling the munitions problem, du Pont stated in his letter.

Favoring strict Government control over international trade in arms, "preferably by international agreement," du Pont added:

"We suggest legislation permitting the export of arms from this country only after the view of orders by a Federal Government commission and complete financial settlement."

"No prudent nation can afford to be unarmed in the world today," he said, and added that "the vital importance of your committee's investigations must be apparent to all thoughtful Americans, who are familiar with their country's history."

Defense and Peace. Two considerations which he termed "paramount to any satisfactory national policy on munitions" were stressed at the beginning of his suggestions. These were:

"Adequate national defense must be assured. The maintenance of peace must be encouraged and fostered."

A Government monopoly on munitions manufacture would be "adequate" in war time, and if carried far enough would "cripple national defense," the manufacturer continued.

He pointed out that "since the war, Government arsenals, operating at only one-tenth of their capacities, have been supplying about 95 percent of the army ordnance, private manufacture only 5 percent."

"But in the event of a major emergency, experts estimate that Government facilities would again only be able to furnish about 5 percent of the ordnance required."

Against Excess Profits. "We subscribe to the view that excess war profits be eliminated. There is a popular demand, which is sound and just, that in the event of any such future national crisis as a major war the entire capital and productive resources of our country should be subjected to the national need without the prospect of extraordinary compensation."

"The national policy should be based on the principle that in time of national emergency, when the

ANNUAL 'THEODORE ROOSEVELT ASSEMBLY' FUND PROPOSED

Promoters Would Buy House in Buffalo, N. Y., Where Late President Took Oath of Office.

By the Associated Press.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 19.—An annual "Theodore Roosevelt assembly on American citizenship" is proposed at the Buffalo mansion in which Roosevelt took the oath of office as President after William McKinley's death. It would be dedicated to keeping alive the Roosevelt ideals of Americanism.

Groups planning this have started a national campaign to raise $200,000 to buy the mansion and endow the assembly.

The mansion was built in 1832-1833 as the officers' headquarters of Poinsett Barracks, the first United States army post here after the War of 1812. It stands on Delaware avenue, Buffalo's finest residential street. When President McKinley was shot at the Pan-American Exposition Sept. 6, 1901, Ansley Wilcox owned it. He was a friend of Roosevelt and the Vice-President hurried there from a vacation in the Adirondacks on learning the President had died Sept. 14.

After a visit to Mrs. McKinley, at the Milburn residence on the same street, Theodore Roosevelt turned to the Wilcox home and took the oath as President in the presence of the McKinley Cabinet. John R. Hazel, then Judge for the Western New York District, administered the oath.

BETTER HOUSING CAMPAIGN EXTENDED TO DOWNTOWN

Property Owners So Far Have Agreed to Spend $4,714,000; Goal Is $10,000,000.

The Better Housing campaign, sponsored by the Federal Housing Administration, in co-operation with local chambers of commerce, will building for needed renovation and modernization. Headquarters have been opened in the Bank of Commerce Building for the downtown campaign.

Every building in the downtown area will be visited by one of more than 30 trained workers. Under the National Housing Act, owners of industrial and business properties may borrow up to $2000 on each building for needed renovation and modernization. Headquarters have been opened in the Bank of Commerce Building for the downtown campaign.

country's man-power is being mobilized, its material resources should be mobilized also.

Du Pont said he declined "to venture an opinion" on the desirability of eliminating international trade in arms.

"If the United alone were to forbid the export of munitions," he added, "our national defense would be impaired because such a policy of isolation might prompt reprisals and make it difficult or impossible in an emergency for this country to obtain essential materials from abroad."

His proposed system of Government control, he said, "would eliminate many abuses that exist in the business and would prevent improper sales where arms are desired for unlawful purposes."

JAPANESE EDUCATOR SPEAKS ON JAPAN'S VIEW OF AMERICA

Miss Michi Kawai, Japanese educator, discussed the reaction of her people to America and to Christianity yesterday at a meeting of the Missionary Federation of St. Louis, held at Third Baptist Church.

Americans, she said, quoting the opinion of a fellow countryman, are so materialistic "their lives are like a Sunday afternoon nap."

Miss Kawai said she was surprised at the keen interest in Japan she had noticed in this country. She regretted that Japan seemed to be "extravagantly praised, or unduly criticized" by Americans.

FARLEY GIVES ADVICE TO NEW CONGRESSMEN

Tells Them Not to Tie Their Hands By Signing Pledges.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—A warning to newly elected Congressmen against pledges of their votes on behalf of various organizations which might have concealed motives was issued by James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, in a radio address here last night.

"Let nobody run away with the idea that the issue of Nov. 6 has put an end to the campaign against the President's policies," said Farley. "Every day we read of organizations having for their purpose interruption of the orderly processes of recovery. Some of these are radical aiming at the amendment of wild legislation; more are reactionary. It seems to me that it is not improbable that both groups are financed from the same source, for both are calculated to alarm the country, and to advance the idea that the Roosevelt administration is aiming at the redistribution of wealth, the elimination of the profit motive in business, unbridled inflation of the currency and heaven only knows what other nightmare is being cited to shake the people's faith in their chief executive!"

Pressure on Consumer. "Already the newly elected Congressmen are being solicited to sign pledges, more or less vague, which would enable these organizations to claim them as adherents and so make a showing of strength before or at the coming session. To these Congressmen-elect I would say that, in my opinion, a legislator who ties his own hands in regard to legislation on which he will vote is committing as great a sin as a jurymen who goes into court pledged in advance as to a particular verdict. His duty to his country is to keep his mind open, to preserve his freedom of judgment and his independence of thought, to the end that when he takes a position on any of the grave matters with which the coming Congress must deal he will vote as his conscience directs for the best interests of the people."

"We cannot, of course, permit people to starve. On the other hand, the Government cannot carry on indefinitely the support of such a multitude as is now on the relief rolls. How to get these people back into private employment is the problem of the industrialists even more than it is of the legislators."

"People as Whole Must Pay." "It is peculiarly the problem of industry, because whether the cost of maintaining the unemployed is borne by the Government or not, inevitably the people as a whole must pay for it. In the last analysis, the maintenance of these people is a charge on business, for whether that maintenance is done by direct charity or through the medium of taxes, it is bound to be as much a part of your overhead as rent, light or power. It is the administration's job to see to it that the burden is equitably distributed and further to take such steps as are necessary for gradually diminishing it, until at last it becomes as unimportant as it was in the days of our past prosperity when nobody noticed it."

"We pledged our party to this duty in the campaign just closed. The vote of confidence is evidence that that pledge was accepted. Now we have to make it good, and I have no doubt that our majorities in Congress, of which I am so proud, will live up to that party's promise. Naturally they will be beset by enthusiasts who regard the New Deal as the opening for those extreme measures which we label socialistic or communistic. Naturally, they will be importuned by those who regard any departure from what has been done in the past as dangerous and unconstitutional radicalism. I don't imagine that anybody is much worried over the idea that the President's good old-fashioned horse sense will be missing from the administration's course in this situation."

"There is no one less likely to overturn the apple cart than he."

SMALL GOLD RUSH IN OREGON

Settlers Turn From Gardening to Search for Metal.

BAKER, Ore., Nov. 19.—A small, steady gold rush is taking place in Baker County. Activity is stronger than it has been in 30 years, and Baker's bank is shipping an average of $100,000 in free gold and bullion, only a part of the output, to the United States Mint every six months.

The new gold price of $35 an ounce taught the settlers of Pine Creek a lesson—they had been growing vegetables on top of gold ore. Now they are drifting the territory for gold.

The Boulder Creek Mining Co. took out $100,000 in a few years, and now it's shipping out $20 nuggets in fruit jars every so often. Harry Ingraham is testing black gold for his fellow miners.

JUST AS YOU DEMAND FRESH EGGS
... demand FRESH aspirin!
The eggs you serve at your table are always fresh. You make sure of that when you buy them. Today science tells you it is just as important to demand freshness in aspirin. Here's why: The United States Pharmacopoeia says: "In dry air it is stable, but in contact with moisture it gradually decomposes. Preserve in well-closed containers."
That's why each package of St. Joseph Aspirin is wrapped and sealed in moisture-proof cellophane to keep it fresh! And because of this freshness you always get quicker, more effective relief from pain and colds. Ask for St. Joseph.

THEY ALL GET A LIFT WITH A CAMEL!

BUSINESS GIRL. Eve Miller says: "I started to smoke Camels because I appreciate flavor, and delicacy of flavor. I found, in addition, that Camels give me a 'lift' when my energy is low—and they never upset my nerves."

DRAFTSMAN: "When I get tired, Camels bring back the feeling of ease and mental alertness—that a draftsman needs to continue such exacting work," says Franklin Dominick. "And I smoke Camels constantly whether I'm working or not."

NEW ATOMS BUILT UP BY USE OF NEUTRONS

Oxygen Produced From Lighter Element, Nitrogen, By Bombardment.

By the Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, Nov. 19.—The manufacture of the ordinary oxygen of the air by bombarding nitrogen, a lighter-weight element, with neutrons, or parts of atoms, was reported today to the National Academy of Sciences.

This represents the most difficult kind of transmutation of the elements, the building up of heavier elements out of lighter ones, a dream of the old alchemists. It has now been accomplished on a small scale by Dr. William D. Harkins of the University of Chicago. He reported it to the opening session of the academy's autumn meeting here.

He has found that neutrons, formerly used only in bombarding and breaking down atoms, also can be used to build up new atoms by the same kind of bombardment.

Dr. Harkins has discovered a new kind of nitrogen, slightly heavier than ordinary nitrogen, such as is taken from the air to be made into fertilizers and explosives. He found that ordinary nitrogen would change into the new kind when it was bombarded with neutrons moving at great speed. The new nitrogen, however, soon disintegrated, changing into oxygen in the process.

The first formal report of the recent discovery that the speed at which light travels apparently is not always the same, was presented by Dr. F. G. Pease of Mount Wilson Observatory and Dr. F. Pearson of University of Chicago. They were originally aided in the work by Dr. A. A. Michelson, now dead.

They found that the speed of light seems to vary according to the position of the moon, apparently being affected by the moon's "pull," which causes the tides of the sea. The speed of light is roughly about 186,000 miles a second, but the scientists have found it varies six miles per second at different times and they cannot explain the difference on the basis of errors in measurement.

PATTERSON OPPOSES G.O.P. REORGANIZATION

Attacks St. Louis Group's Demand for Adoption of New Policies and Program.

United States Senator Roscoe C. Patterson, defeated Republican nominee to succeed himself, issued a statement today, opposing reorganization of the Republican party and criticizing the St. Louis organization for the character of its recent unsuccessful campaign.

"We now hear the same demand that follows every defeat—that the Republican party be reorganized and a new set of principles espoused," said Patterson, who is aligned with the older element of the party to which young St. Louis Republicans recently directed their demand for reorganization and recognition of younger members of the party.

"This cry," Patterson continued, "does not come from those whose Republicanism has been orthodox but from those who have not sincerely supported Republican principles in the past. With such demands I am not in accord."

Says No Change Is Needed. The Republican party needs neither new birth nor the adoption of any sound or speculative program in lieu of the safe and sound policies it has favored in the past, even though such new program might be labeled "progressive."

Patterson, who ran well behind the local ticket in St. Louis, indicated the strategy of St. Louis candidates in basing the campaign on local issues and refraining from criticism of Roosevelt, weakened the ticket in rural Missouri.

"The result in St. Louis," he said, "while disappointing, was not surprising. Neither those in charge of the Republican organization nor those running as Republican candidates conducted a Republican campaign. They preferred to conduct a campaign on local issues, of personalities rather than principles."

"Had they thrown themselves wholeheartedly into the fight and waged a straight-from-the-shoulder Republican campaign for the entire ticket, it is not improbable that the Republican ticket in St. Louis would have been elected, but even possible that it would have affected the national and state candidates."

Repeating the charges he made immediately following the election, Patterson said Republican defeat was due to "100,000 ghost votes," fraudulently polled by the Democratic party, and money provided by the relief program "every dollar of which was turned to political advantage."

"This advantage," Patterson continued, referring to relief funds, "the Democrats will not have two years hence. Its spokesmen are already proclaiming that relief must be promptly returned to local communities, where it always properly belongs."

Repeating the charges he made immediately following the election, Patterson said Republican defeat was due to "100,000 ghost votes," fraudulently polled by the Democratic party, and money provided by the relief program "every dollar of which was turned to political advantage."

"The Republican party will make progress by turning to the left," he concluded. "Loose talk of reorganization or that the Republican party has no constructive policy only adds to the bewilderment on the part of many, while those in control of the government are fast driving toward state socialism."

LOS ANGELES INTERURBAN ENGINEERS VOTE TO STRIKE

Walkout, If It Materializes, Would Involve 1510 Pacific Electric Employees.

By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19.—Locomotive men of the Pacific Electric Railway have voted to strike, increasing the possibility of a general stoppage of city street car and interurban lines.

G. T. Nolan, general chairman of the Locomotive Men's Brotherhood, said the strike, if called, would affect most of the 1540 Pacific Electric employees.

The Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees recently threatened to strike in protest against wages and hours of the Los Angeles Railway Corporation. Their case is before a Federal Labor Board and a civilian committee.

Nolan said the Pacific Electric Union asked for 89 cents an hour for motormen and conductors and 80 cents an hour for motor coach operators. The company, Nolan said, offered 82½ and 57 cents an hour, according to length of service.

CHEMIST KILLED PERFORMING EXPERIMENT IN LABORATORY

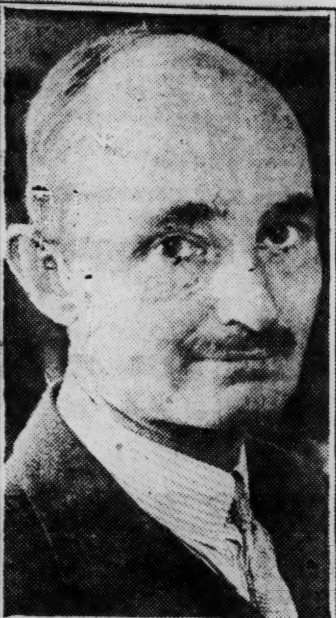

Heat of Breath on Tube Expands Hydrogen Chloride Gas, Forcing It Into Lungs.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Dr. Eric von Gubner-Fulnegg, 32-year-old chemist, died yesterday from the effects of hydrochloric acid in his lungs. He recently had produced a transparent rubber compound and was perfecting it at the time of his death. He was a native of Praha, Czechoslovakia. He was connected with Northwestern University.

He inhaled hydrogen chloride gas while transferring a quantity of it from one container to another Thursday in a Gary, Ind., laboratory where he worked.

E. M. Kratz, a research associate, said: "Instead of using an air pressure machine to force the gas, Dr. Gubner-Fulnegg put his lips to the tube. The heat of his breath expanded the gas and forced it down his throat. Reaching his lungs, the gas probably liquefied, forming hydrochloric acid."

Increase at Methodist Schools.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—A registration increase of 54 per cent for 107 educational institutions affiliated with the Methodist Episcopal Church has been reported by the Board of Education of the church for the current semester as compared with the registration in the fall of 1933. The enrollment this year was 60,633.

FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER

Fred Benner, Who Shot Carmel Policeman, Gets 99 Years.

SPECIAL TO THE POST-DISPATCH. CARMEL, Ill., Nov. 19.—After deliberating for 16 hours, a jury Saturday found Fred Benner guilty of the murder of Chief of Police Clarence Ritsch of Carmel and recommended a 99-year prison term. Petition for a new trial was denied.

Benner shot the officer to death when the latter attempted to persuade Benner, who was intoxicated, to return to his home. The defendant, who was in tears during most of the trial, admitted that he had been drinking heavily and said that he had borrowed a revolver after a quarrel with a tramp who had threatened his life. He denied that he held a grudge against Chief Ritsch because of previous arrests.

Now Deafened Hear Without Earpiece

HEAD BONES FUNCTION AS EARDRUM AND MIDDLE EAR

There is now being demonstrated at Famous-Barr Company one of the latest improvements in Bone Conducting aids for the deafened. This newest unit is so light and small that it can be used with the utmost comfort and inconspicuousness.

People who have been handicapped with deafness for years have found this invention a wonderful aid, enabling them to hear both at home and in auditoriums. Only those who cannot receive sound impressions through the bones fail to derive the result described, and about eight out of ten people can hear this way.

A short test will quickly determine whether you can hear through the bones. Private demonstrations are given by an acoustical expert daily. Home demonstration on request.

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 19.—Argentine tripled its armed forces on the Chaco frontier today, following reports that embattled Paraguayan and Bolivian troops were "perilously" close to the border.

Gen. Andres Sabalain left by airplane for Las Lomitas to study the frontier situation and take charge of troops which, with reinforcements moving to the border, will total 5000. Hitherto only 1500 men had been at Las Lomitas.

An airplane squadron was included in the reinforcements sent to garrisons at Las Lomitas and the territory of Formosa. The soldiers were ordered to disarm and intern any foreign soldier who enters Argentine.

The Government instructed Ministers of La Paz and Asuncion to remind Bolivia and Paraguay that Argentina is strictly neutral and to ask for precautions against permitting forces to cross into Argentine territory.

Dispatches from Asuncion said Paraguayans were advancing on Bolivian troops, retreating after Paraguay's capture of Fort Ballivian, Bolivian stronghold. The reports said the Bolivian retreat was orderly and that many of the troops had crossed the Pilcomayo River, throwing their arms into it, and had sought refuge in Argentine.

Military circles said Paraguay was facing the problem of feeding and guarding more than 30,000 prisoners taken during the war. Ten thousand were said to have been seized in the Fort Ballivian operation.

Bolivia denied Ballivian was captured, asserting it was abandoned "because it no longer had any military importance" and "nothing was lost in the evacuation."

League Hints Penalties May Be Avoided by Truce.

By the Associated Press.
GENEVA, Nov. 19.—The League of Nations hinted today that Paraguay and Bolivia could avoid possible penalties by laying down their arms in the Chaco.

A report of the League's Chaco Committee told the two countries they had broken the Covenant of the League by fighting.

Under the covenant the League is empowered to sever economic, diplomatic and financial relations with belligerents. Although the report did not actually say so, it intimated this might be done. A comprehensive plan for ending the war was presented by the committee.

Both nations were asked to accept the peace plan as soon as possible, provided the other nation also approved it. A neutral advisory commission of six members designated by Argentina, Chile, Peru and Uruguay would be set up, on cessation of hostilities, to direct steps toward a permanent peace.

U. S. to Be Asked to Aid.
Peace negotiations would be opened in Buenos Aires within 30 days of the truce. The United States, which declined to join the committee, and Brazil would be invited to collaborate in the work of the advisory commission. Neither country is a League member.

The commission is to determine what measures will be taken to insure and maintain cessation of hostilities in accordance with certain rules. Paraguay and Bolivia would order their troops to cease all hostilities within a period of six days from the date on which the Secretary General of the League notifies them that the recommendations of the Assembly have been accepted by both parties.

Within 10 days from the cessation of hostilities the two armies would take their advance lines back toward the main bodies for at least 50 kilometers from the front, and so create a neutral zone at least 100 kilometers in width. Within this zone the two armies are ordered to abstain from establishing any works of an offensive or defensive character.

The Embargo Question.
The report said the supervisory commission which is to follow the progress of the entire plan will be empowered to consider the application, modification or withdrawal of an arms embargo, or make any proposals it may think desirable in this respect.The text of the report on the embargo question follows:
"The Assembly approves in the"Scandal Because Mikado's

Policeman Tries to Kill Self as Result of Blunder in Procession.By the Associated Press.
TOKIO, Nov. 19.—The Government's apologies for an inconvenience caused Emperor Hirohito when his entourage was directed over the wrong route were conveyed to the Emperor today by Fumio Goto, Minister of Home Affairs.

Goto, who is in charge of police, conferred with Premier Okada as to whether Goto should resign as a result of the incident. It was understood from an authoritative source the resignation was decided to be unnecessary and it was deemed desirable to avoid weakening the cabinet when the naval talks in London are going on and a new budget is being drafted.

The Government named a disciplinary commission to decide on punishment for officials considered responsible for the incident.

Juel Honda, a sergeant who followed an ancient code by attempting to kill himself because he had embarrassed the Emperor, was reported today to be improving and is expected to recover. He and a fellow-blunderer, Police Sergeant Yasumichi Kenjo, are being closely guarded to prevent further suicide attempts.

Emperor Hirohito arrived at Kiyu, center of the silk industry, on a tour of Gunma prefecture. Honda was in a police car guiding the entourage and took a wrong turn.

This caused the procession to travel the wrong streets, ones which were considered inadequate for the Emperor. The Emperor arrived at Nish Technical College ahead of schedule. His reception committee was not ready to greet him and was improperly clothed.

PHILIPPINE TYPHOON
DEATHS PUT AT 90Part of Town of Mauban Under Nine Feet of Water;
Many Houses Destroyed.By the Associated Press.
MANILA, Nov. 19.—An airplane survey party which flew today in an army amphibian plane to Mauban with medical supplies returned here tonight with word that "about 90" were killed by a typhoon in that district.

Under-Secretary of the Interior Leon C. Guinto, head of the party, said there was a serious epidemic threat because of the number of unburied bodies of both persons and animals. He brought back the first authoritative report from the section.

The Interior Secretary said the party found 250 houses destroyed and a part of the two still under nine feet of water. Fifty-two bodies had been buried, he said, and 44 persons were still reported missing. Guinto declared previous reports of over 200 dead in Mauban were "exaggerated."

Maj. George C. Dunham, health adviser to Governor-General Frank Murphy and head of a Red Cross party which sailed for the affected districts Saturday on the cutter Banahaw, wireless today 4000 houses had been destroyed in Albay Province and 6000 houses in 10 municipalities of Sorsogon Province, at the southernmost tip of this island of Luzon. The total known casualties, exclusive of those at Mauban, were counted at 49.

PARADE OF MEXICAN ATHLETES

March on Twenty-fourth Anniversary of Fall of Diaz.By the Associated Press.
MEXICO, D. F., Nov. 19.—More than 25,000 uniformed athletes of both sexes paraded yesterday before President Abelardo Rodriguez and members of the diplomatic corps, on the twenty-fourth anniversary of the revolution against Diaz.

Most of the marchers were members of sports clubs sponsored by various ministries and of school and military organizations. Police and soldiers lined the route of march through the principal streets to the National Palace, but the huge crowd of spectators made no demonstration, with the exception of an occasional burst of applause and cheers. Reports that children who did not attend would be barred from the schools in the next term were denied by officials, who said participation in the parade was voluntary.

PICKETS BLOCK ALBERTA ROADS

Cold Weather Expected to Curb Farm Strike Activity.By the Associated Press.
EDMONTON, Alberta, Nov. 19.—The approach of winter was expected today to curb picketing efforts in Northern Alberta's spreading farm strike.

The pickets are attempting to prevent grain deliveries in protest against alleged low-grading and excessive dockage. Seventeen towns with 77 elevators are affected and roads in a 50-mile area northeast of Edmonton are blocked by pickets. Royal Canadian Mounted Police are seeking several men alleged to have beaten and tarred George Palmer, a strike leader, near Vegreville.

present case as one of the measures to obtain and maintain cessation of hostilities the prohibition of supplying arms or war materials to Paraguay and Bolivia, and it recommends to members of the League in subsequent decision which they may have to take as regards the maintenance, possible modification or withdrawal of such prohibition, that they have regard as to the action taken by each of the parties upon the Assembly's recommendations, and before taking any steps, place themselves in communication with the advisory committee so as to take the committee's opinion into consideration."

NAZI EXPOUNDS RACIAL THEORY OF ECONOMICSSays Aryan Principle Is Common Weal; Jewish,
Personal Profit.By the Associated Press.
ESSEN, Germany, Nov. 19.—Walther Darri, Nazi Minister of Agriculture, expounded the theory yesterday that Germany is a battleground between the Aryan and Jewish conceptions of economics, and that the result of the battle would determine which would triumph in the world.Speaking at the closing session of the second national convention of the nutritive guild before thousands of peasant leaders from Germany and Europe, he said:
"The economic conception of two diametrically opposed races is struggling for the supremacy of our people."

"The fundamental error of the liberal or Jewish theory of economics is the claim that economics is something governed by its own laws, independent of such super-economic conceptions as blood, race, nation and fatherland."

"Primacy of Blood."
"A further fundamental error is its contention that personal advantage is the motive power of all economic undertaking. Against this we pose the Aryan conception of the primacy of blood in all questions of life, including economics."

"We assert that the ethical conception of labor for the common weal must constitute the motive power for all our actions."

Once this principle is completely realized in Germany, he said, "Europe also will introduce a similar order which alone can guarantee European peace. Since our fuhrer is the guarantor of this new conception of economics, his person also is in the last analysis the guaranty for Europe's peace."

Darre contended that until about 1000 years ago Germany ruled by the conception that goods must be produced to supply actual needs.

Effect of Profit Motive.
With the introduction of the Jewish principle of working for profit, irrespective of the need of consumers, he said, there came a cleavage between employer and worker, between city and country.

"History shows," he said, "that the Jew never created values but always injected himself where he could earn without working."

Darre proudly pointed to the fact that the agricultural sector of Germany's economic life was first to abandon completely the liberal economic principles. He admitted this would necessitate many painful operations, but said that success was already so obvious that industry and other branches of German economic life were bound to reorganize on Nazi principles.

Success in agriculture, he said, was possible because he depended solely upon old Nazi fighters to put through his ideas, even if they did not always possess perfect technical knowledge.

"They were used to obeying, and that was decisive," he said.

Germany Bars "Saar Book."
BERLIN, Nov. 19.—The Government has excluded from further circulation in its present form the elaborately printed 334-page "Saar Book," issued originally as a Saar propaganda instrument. Exception was taken to the concluding section of the volume, which on alternate pages showed pictures of Negroes dancing with white women assertively from France, and scenes of French squalor and riots which were contrasted with photographs of German workers' conditions, showing clean streets.MOTH HOLES

LONDON, Nov. 19.—Ambassador Tsuneo Matsudaira, on behalf of Japan, today rejected the British suggestion for a compromise in the proposed naval treaty.

He told Sir John Simon, British Foreign Secretary, that Japan could not accept the British offer of a treaty which would recognize equality for Japan only in principle. Japan wants equality in actual tonnage.

At the same time, Matsudaira urged that the British consider new ways of approaching a compromise which would recognize Japanese equality.

$50,000 FOR BAR PROGRAM

Carnegie Corporation Aids Legal Reform Movement.By the Associated Press.
JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 19.—Scott M. Loftin, president of the American Bar Association, announced last night that the Carnegie Corporation of New York had donated $50,000 toward the support of a three-year program of the association to unify the work of State and local bar organizations.

The program, adopted in 1933, received added impetus at the recent annual convention at which Loftin was elected president. Objectives are enforcement of criminal law; raising the standards of admission to the bar; selection of Judges and bar activities in connection therewith; elimination of the unauthorized practice of law and enforcement of professional ethics.

TO QUIZ FRANCE AND ARGENTINA ON GRAIN EXPORTSWorld Wheat Conference to Ask About Shipments
Said to Have Depressed
Prices.By the Associated Press.
BUDAPEST, Hungary, Nov. 19.—Argentina and France will be called on by the World Wheat Conference, opening tomorrow, to explain heavy grain shipments in recent weeks.

These shipments are blamed in some quarters for depressing world prices. The Liverpool market touched a record low for the year Saturday.

The Canadian delegation expressed fears at the London meeting in August that failure to adopt quotas then would lead to "dumping" by France and Argentina, which would wipe out all improvement in world prices resulting from the drought in the United States.

France particularly, it was said, is in a delicate position, as she made a pledge to the conference last winter which was expected virtually to remove her from the export field.

Delegates from the major wheat countries will review operations over the last few months of the international wheat pact, designed to boost prices.

Andrew Cairns of Canada, secretary of the Wheat Advisory Committee, in an official report, will inform the conference that the average price for wheat in the British market the first two weeks of November was 45 pre-devaluation gold cents per bushel. European countries are pledged to lower their tariffs when an average of 63 gold cents is maintained for a period of 18 weeks.

The lowest price was 38.8 cents during the month of May. It was down to 50.8 in August, 1933, when the wheat pact was signed.

Cairns will report a yearly average of 52 cents in 1932-33; 59 in 1931-32; 76 in 1930-31, and 127 in 1929 and 1930. It ranged from 123 to 182 gold cents in the preceding seven years.

These statistics will form the basis of arguments by North Americans and Australians that this conference must not fail to extend the pact to 1937 and reach a decision on quotas for the current years.

The American delegates, Loyd V. Steere, agricultural attaché at Berlin, and John V. A. MacMurray, Minister to Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, are already here. A number of other delegates will arrive today.

GASPARRI, WHO RECONCILED ITALY
AND VATICAN, DIESCardinal Who Was Papal Secretary of State Under Two Popes, Succumbs to Pneumonia at 82.By the Associated Press.
ROME, Nov. 19.—Pietro Cardinal Gasparri, former Papal secretary of state, died of pneumonia shortly after 10:30 o'clock last night. He was 82 years old.

He was stricken last week with influenza. He sank steadily yesterday. At 5 p. m. Archbishop Ottaviani, Under-Secretary of State, imparted the special blessing of Pope Pius. Extreme unction was administered Saturday.

To bolster a steadily weakening heart, oxygen was administered by physiciand.

Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, Gasparri's successor as Secretary of State, visited the dying prelate during the evening. His nephew, Enrico Cardinal Gasparri, celebrated a final mass at his uncle's villa and administered communion.

Pope Notified of Death.

Cardinal Enrico Gasparri, the prelate's nephew, notified Pope Pius of the death. A high prelate and a vatican judicial officer went to the Cardinal's apartment and sealed the door of his study.

Pope Pius ordered the funeral to be held at 10 a. m. Thursday. The service will take place in Saint Ignatius Church and will be conducted by Mgr. Tito Trocchi, auditor of the Apostolic Chamber.

Cardinal Gasparri's body, vested in his Cardinal's robes, were transferred this morning on a portable throne from his bedroom to his throne room, where it will lie in state until Wednesday night, guarded by prelates and nuns.

Count Giacomo Suardo, first gentleman of the Italian court, called at the Cardinal's villa today.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

A Reply to Nazi Criticism.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE POST-DISPATCH:
A CORRESPONDENT signing himself H. V. finds fault with Dr. W. H. Dorn for holding that Hitler and the German people are the peace-loving nation implied by Hitler's speech at the Nazi party convention at Nuremberg. Additionally, he puts several questions he wants answered. I will try to accommodate him.

"Why must youth enter the so-called 'Arbeitsdienst' for two years after leaving school?" he asks. Whether they enter a labor camp for a period of several weeks after each semester or after leaving school is not material. They are required to give part of their time to free labor for the purpose of restoring labor to the dignity which it has lost in every highly civilized country. Hitler's example has now found a quick response in Italy, where Mussolini is abolishing the leisurely class and compelling even the landed aristocrats to go to work and get acquainted with the soil.

"Why are students compelled to live, not at home, but in houses run by army officers under the strictest discipline?" is the correspondent's next question. The answer is that whoever invented that yarn must have got hold of a history of ancient Sparta and thought it a good lie to hang on Hitler.

"Why was the wonderful book, 'All Quiet on the Western Front,' whose author is a Roman Catholic, prohibited in Germany?" Was it not to keep the present generation in ignorance of the tragedy of the last war? The book may have been wonderful to foreigners with no benevolent feelings for Germany. Its suppression (after enjoying a period of the pent-up resentment against the standardized spirit of disruptive, unpatriotic and morbid literature that prevailed up to Hitler's assumption of the chancellorship. Its chief exponents were authors like Feuchtwanger, Emil Ludwig, the late Maximilian Harden and others.

In this class of Germans belongs Remarque, whose reflections on the severe discipline of the German army are expertly justified by Maj. Carlos Nicholson of the Peruvian army. Nicholson also has an able defender in Gen. Sir Ian Hamilton, British army veteran.

To quote further: "Just recently, a German Government official said that Belgium and Holland ought to be united with Germany." Well, the private opinion of a public official does not necessarily commit his Government. What if he did say so? I have heard prominent Americans say that Canada ought to belong to the United States (and I think Louisianians ought to belong to it instead of being sent to Huey Long). And there is this to say in defense of the mythical German official whose statement H. V. quotes, that the majority of the people of Belgium and Holland are of purely German stock and once comprised states of the German Reich.

Education and Success.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE POST-DISPATCH:
SAYS Dr. Wiggam: "There is no other test that gives as certain a prophecy of a young man's future success or failure as his record in college." One is constrained to wonder just what motive could influence a columnist to make a statement of this sort, in fact of the record of Dr. John Dewey that considered to have failed, and that a thorough revision would seem very essential.

Evidently, Dr. Wiggam is devoted to the school of thought which assumes that education, being king, can do no wrong, judged by its tactics of administering the result to be decided by a dyspeptic professor according to the state of his digestion.

WILLIAM H. THALER.

A Merchant on Relief Methods.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE POST-DISPATCH:
I HAVE a dry goods store in a neighborhood where a large portion of the people are now on relief. Relief orders for merchandise are being given out in large numbers by the relief agencies, to be filled by the merchants, and the bulk of this business in this neighborhood is given to one merchant. How are we, the other merchants, going to make a living?

The favored merchant is rushed with the business, and we sit around because the people in this section have little cash left. Many had savings, but with everything going out and nothing coming in, they are at the end of their resources.

We have written the various branches of the relief agencies, but it has only brought us a rebuff. Is this fair? Why shouldn't the fact be made known to the public? The fact that one has been in business for years and always able to contribute as much and more than others, is a fact that one carries a large merchandise at the lowest possible prices also means nothing. One cannot even get agencies.

If this business cannot be divided proportionately (and it can't), why not give these people cash and let them buy where they want to buy?

A MONUMENTAL EXPOSURE.

After a bitter contest, a resolution was adopted by the United States Senate in 1928 ordering the Federal Trade Commission to investigate the financial practices and propaganda activities of the power and light industry. As originally drawn by the late Senator Walsh, the resolution provided for an investigation by a committee of the Senate. A powerful array of lobbyists was concentrated in Washington to defeat the Walsh resolution. It succeeded in doing so by accepting the compromise that the inquiry be conducted by the Federal Trade Commission. This was considered a great victory for the utilities, since it was believed that a senatorial investigation, particularly if directed by that relentless inquisitor, Senator Walsh, would be far more damaging to the utilities than any inquiry by the Commission.

The results form a masterpiece of irony. In all probability, a senatorial investigation would have lasted but a few weeks, would merely have skimmed the surface of the subject and would have provided a few ephemeral headlines. Instead, the Federal Trade Commission has devoted years to the subject, and is just now making its report to the Senate. It took evidence which totaled some 7,000,000 words. This evidence, often startling in its revelations, has provided the press with thousands of news articles and editorial subjects, and has given rise to publication of numerous books describing the propaganda activities of the utilities.

The Federal Trade Commission says that the National Electric Light Association spent for propaganda throughout the United States in the neighborhood of $2,000,000 annually. It says that "no campaign approaching it in magnitude has ever been conducted except possibly by governments in wartime." Indeed, the campaign of the utilities was so thorough and so far-reaching in its ramifications that in the end it destroyed itself. When the public, clued by education, which had not been flooded with utility propaganda, there arose a reaction which defeated the utilities' purpose.

Samuel Insull seems to have been the originator of the idea of creating artificially a state of mind favorable to the utilities regardless of what the true presentation of their activities would have produced. He called his executives together in 1919 for the purpose of discussing "public relations." He closed the meeting with the terse command: "Get busy and do something." Instantly an organization was created which eventually extended to every state in the Union. Two years later, the chairman of the committee for Illinois reported to Mr. Insull that it had placed 5,000,000 pieces of "literature." The report emphasized that these 5,000,000 pieces were not scattered broadcast, but were definitely placed with newspaper editors, with customers of public utilities, with business men, bankers and lawyers, teachers, preachers, labor leaders, students in colleges and high schools, public officials of all kinds and candidates for public office.

This, however, was only the beginning of a systematic campaign in universities, high schools, grammar schools and even kindergartens; in women's clubs, Boy Scout troops, debating societies; in newspapers and magazines; in political campaigns and in local, state and national governments. One utility publicity man was asked by Judge Robert E. Healy, able counsel of the Federal Trade Commission, if any form of publicity had been neglected by the National and that is sky-writing.

It is, of course, impossible to measure accurately the result of this propaganda system upon the public mind, but the late J. B. Sheridan, the utilities' representative in Missouri, did not hesitate to say at the 1925 annual convention of the American Gas Association: "What have the state committees on public utility information done? In four or five short years, they have just about changed the entire trend of economic and political thought in the United States. That's all." Mr. Sheridan was also the author of the remark: "Give us the child at 7 years old, and we care not who educates him thereafter; he will be ours." Possibly in response to this provocative remark by Mr. Sheridan, the utilities got out a colored picture book, "The Ohm Queen," for kindergarten use, of which more than 400,000 copies were distributed.

To examine the methods of the National Electric Light Association is to be amazed by their boldness. To assist it in getting propaganda into the schools, it did not scruple to hire, at fancy salaries, men who were considered outstanding educators, who thereupon used their prestige in advancing the pet theories of the utilities.

In the case of women's clubs, it actually succeeded in hiring the president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. She was paid $600 a month to write articles prepared in collaboration with the utilities, which were then placed in some of the leading magazines of the country. In the case of the press, millions of columns of prepared material were broadcast throughout the United States and many of these "releases" found their way into print without any clew to their source or their authorship. Even editorials prepared or inspired by the utilities were frequently published as expressions of the papers' own opinions.

One of the utility men, commenting upon the newspaper campaign, said: "We were successful in increasing the amount of advertising which had been done in the state. This has a splendid effect on the editors. The result is that we now stand very well with the editors and the press of the state. I may say that the newspapers are 99 per cent with the privately owned utilities." The same utility man, in a private letter to a fellow utility man, later unearthed by the Federal Trade Commission, wrote: "Gee, Mr. Buck, what the country press is worth to people who are honest and who use it honestly, is beyond calculation. I have spent as much as $300 in three years 'entertaining' editors, etc. Some of them do enjoy a little drink; all of them are God's fools, grateful for the smallest and most insignificant service or courtesy."

It is, of course, highly contrary to sound public policy for an industry, by insidious means, to subsidize educators, newspapers and clubwomen and to do all the other things exposed by the Federal Trade Commission. But the offense of the utilities is compounded by the fact that all the vast sums of money which were spent to influence the public mind in utility operation, were paid, ultimately, by the public. Former Managing Director Aylesworth of the National Electric Light Association told a group of utility executives not to be afraid to spend money in permitting large numbers of their employees to attend conventions, because the "public pays." On this, the Federal Trade Commission comments:

This is materially true, as the cost of all public relations work is usually charged up as operating expenses by the utility companies. But the public paying does not end with that, for whenever such original payments are used in successfully lulling the paying public into satisfaction with improper rates or charges, to such an extent does the public pay for the privilege of continuing to pay excessively, as long as such rates continue in force.

Public condemnation of the utility propaganda campaign has been so often and so definitely expressed that there is little to add to it. It was only necessary for the Federal Trade Commission to publish its findings for a wave of indignation to sweep the country. The unfortunate thing is that, though the utilities have discontinued or sharply curtailed their propaganda activities by voluntary action, many utility abuses are still being practiced at the expense of the public. The evils of holding companies, of extortionate rates, of artificial write-ups and of watered securities are still with us. ## A NEW ENTRY IN THE ARMS RACE.

An armaments race is a highly contagious disease, and no vaccine has been perfected. As Senator Bennett Clark said in his admirable Armistice day address, part of which is printed on this page, excessive spending for arms by one nation leads its neighbors to increase their expenditures, and a "vicious circle" of economic destruction is set up.

A perfect illustration of this fact is given in the current news from Europe. Czechoslovakia is one of the continent's most democratic and peaceful countries. It has a standing army of moderate size and a substantial military budget, but hitherto had watched from the sidelines the other nations' piling up of armaments.

Now, however, Czechoslovakia has given virtual announcement of entry into the race. Certain border towns must be fortified, it is decided, and work will begin next spring. The nation's youth will be given extensive training in arms. An increase in the period of compulsory service from 14 months to two years is demanded. Foreign Minister Benes, a leader in European peace efforts, has announced his reluctant conversion to a greater arms program. To neglect preparations for defense amounts to an invitation to war, he says.

It would be unreasonable to criticize Czechoslovakia for the decision, which is forced by the general European madness. A glance at the map will show her perilous position. Her largest neighbor, Germany, is controlled by a militarist group. Should Germany and Austria unite, Czechoslovakia would be in the grip of Nazi pliers. Hungary, on the south, is restless. Poland, on the north, is steering an uncertain course. Rumors of wars abound on all sides of the little inland nation.

Truly, it is a deadly contagion. Czechoslovakia is forced by her position to join the other nations in their squandering of national wealth, in their fear psychoses, in their additions to the European powder mine. It is a race the end of which is not in sight.

THE POSTAL SURPLUS.

Most of the fiscal items from Washington these days tell about growing Government expenditures and mounting deficits, so it is good news for the country that Postmaster-General Farley can announce a surplus of $12,161,415 for his department in the fiscal year recently ended. It is the first postal surplus since the post-war boom year of 1919. It is far greater than Mr. Farley's preliminary estimate of a $5,000,000 surplus, made last July. Except for the 1918 surplus, it is the greatest showing of profit the department has ever made. It stands in high contrast to the record deficit of $152,346,000 in 1932.

Mr. Farley and his aids deserve commendation for effecting reforms that have helped produce a profit instead of the customary loss. However, it would be regrettable if such large surpluses were to become a regular feature. There is good ground for the contention that the Postoffice Department should not be a money-making institution, but primarily a service instrument. The present good showing comes from two sources: the employees and the public. Salaries have been reduced and vacancies left unfilled. First-class postage has been increased from 2 to 3 cents, and other rates also advanced.

Since the purpose of these policies has been served, distribution of the gains is in order. At least partial restoration of wage cuts, filling of vacancies and lowering of rates should now be possible, particularly since Mr. Farley reports continuing gains in receipts, running up to 11 per cent over 1933, for the last two months. Additional reductions in expenditures doubtless are possible, in postoffice rentals, subsidies, franking readjustments, etc. But even before these are made, the public will expect wage restorations and rate reductions.

A WISE ACTION IN CALIFORNIA.

It was absurd on its face to suppose that five student leaders at the University of California in Los Angeles had banded together to "destroy" the university. But that was the charge made by Provost Moore two weeks ago in announcing their suspension for alleged radical activities. It is to the university's credit that its president, Dr. Robert G. Sproul, now has investigated the charges and reinstated four of the students. (The case of the fifth, a young woman, is still under inquiry.) Further, Dr. Sproul's apology to the students for damaging their reputations by affixing the Red label is a rebuke as well to those themselves well in refusing to accept condemnation, and insisting upon full vindication.

The whole affair, with its incidental near-riots on the campus, seems to be typical of California's jittery reaction to any gesture of radicalism. It originated in a campus open forum, conducted against the provost's orders, at which the issues in the recent State campaign were discussed. It was insubordination, but why should not students be permitted to exercise their rights as citizens to discuss public affairs? Dr. Sproul's just decision and candid apology should be a helpful example to California. In the too often shows a tendency to lose sight of civil liberties and to apply the Red label recklessly to any unorthodox action or opinion.

However the plebiscite results, "God save the

War From an Economic Viewpoint

World is still paying, in depression, for last war, and is bankrupting itself to buy arms that may cause another, says Missouri Senator; asserts a primary cause of conflicts is private profits from war, which lead to armaments races; thinks that the Senate's munitions inquiry will serve peace cause, and pledges continuance of efforts.

From Armistice Day Address by Senator Bennett Clark at Washington University.

IN this time, when depression has set its heel upon the whole world as a result of war, and yet when war clouds are again darkening many parts of the world, it is sometimes said that too much emphasis has been placed upon the moral phases of war and too little upon the economic. Too few of us have realized that "Peace on earth, good will toward men" represents not the greatest moral declaration, but the greatest economic necessity ever expressed. The nations of the earth must finally subscribe to peace and plenty. So long as will have them. But even if it were true that preparation for war would end war, of the world—the present rate of expenditure for armament will soon absolutely bankrupt the world, even without the aid of another war.

Yet men are so filled with fear by the propaganda of armament makers that it is commonly said that peace is an ideal of the future, that there is yet no hope of attainment. When men say that the time is not yet come for stopping armament expenditures, they are saying that the time has not yet come for economic recovery. Nations can and will insist on saving armament expenditures when their peoples realize that the profits of munitions makers are the chief cause of their poverty.

Past expenditures for armament have nearly bankrupted all of the principal nations of the world, and continued expenditures will soon complete bankruptcy without war. If another war comes, the survival of civilization is at stake. Spending more for armament each year by any country only means that other countries will, and thus the vicious circle has widened to encompass the economic destruction of nearly the entire world.

Yet no serious effort has yet been made to approach the subject of war from a merely business standpoint. Few efforts have been made to bring home the problem from the angle of mere dollars and cents. Until point out the dire effects of the munition makers' trade on the continuation of wars.

War is bad business because economically war is dope. Like dope, it offers to the economic system temporary stimulation, brief periods of false and feverish activity, brilliant flights of industry. Like dope, war has its awful "morning after."

We awake to find the horrible reaction of our horrible "sleigh ride"—our financial nervous system painfully disarranged, our currencies trodden under heel, our soaring prices crashing and our fictitious markets collapsed. Nations are left clogged with unemployment and dislocated labor, clogged with over-production from the fake stimulation of war, from the maldistribution of war efforts, from the frantic and hopeless pining to keep over-sized plants running to capacity to pay interest upon useless and unproductive war expansions.

We awake to find that by the end of the primary causes of war is the making of private profit out of war. Without the control of the prime war industries,

there would be no active propaganda,

promotion of the competitive armaments of nations. Without this insane race of petitive armaments, the danger of war

would be enormously reduced.

When a group of us in the United States

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. ABOUT half the moves which serious Henry Morgenthau makes in the realm of high finance these days are based on an effort to get private capital working.

Without this monetary flow into business channels, young Henry — and more especially his chief in the White House — have concluded that recovery will be a long time coming. So they are out to restore bankers' confidence.

One move in this direction was the recent flotation of Home Owners Loan Corporation bonds through a banking syndicate headed by Lehman Brothers. The syndicate received a commission of $6 a hundred for selling the bonds.

Behind this was partly the desire to show good will to the bankers, partly the plan to get the bonds scattered among a wide group of people. Hitherto the banks themselves have bought in Government bonds until their vaults are overflowing with them.

Young Morgenthau wanted the bonds sold on somewhat the same plan as the Liberty loans. For this type of selling — through salesmen — a commission of $6 was not unreasonable.

But the bankers did not diffuse their selling. Instead of sending out salesmen, they batted the bonds off by telephone and telegraph to a relatively small group.

Young Henry got his money, but his first try at bankers' co-operation was a fizzle.

Irrefutable.

A FLORIDA farmer wrote Harry Hopkins the other day that his Federal relief workers were killing FERA cattle on his premises. The farmer protested against his property being so used.

Someone in Hopkins' office wrote a reply asking for specific facts. A week or so later there arrived a FERA office a crate. In it was a dead steer. It had been dead some time. It was delivered, however, to the correspondence division of the FERA.

It was a card from the Florid farmer, which read:

"Here is the evidence."

Power Probe.

WHILE President Roosevelt was touring the Tennessee Valley inspecting the vast construction projects of the TVA, closed-door discussions were in progress in liberal quarters in the Capital over the desirability of seeking a new power investigation at the commission of Congress.

The progressives are in possession of information which they believe indicates that private power interests have launched a secret drive to obstruct and delay TVA plans.

One of the strong suspicions of the liberals is that the recently

EDWARD F. LASAR DIES AT HIS FLORIDA HOME

St. Louis Manufacturer, 75, Succumbs to Pneumonia After Fall.

Funeral services for Edward F. Lasar, founder of the Lasar Manufacturing Co., 1313 North Sixth street, who died Saturday at his home at Vero Beach, Fla., of pneumonia, which developed from injuries suffered two weeks earlier in a fall from a ladder in his orange grove, will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday at the Alexander funeral chapel, 6175 Delmar boulevard. Burial will be in Bellefontaine Cemetery.

He was 75 years old. He was born in Ohio and came to St. Louis with his family when a young man. He organized his ornamental iron and bronze manufacturing business 40 years ago, and had lived in Florida since 1925 when he retired from active control of the firm. He purchased a small orange grove at Vero Beach and raised the fruit as a hobby. His son, Edward G. Lasar, 3414 Hawthorne boulevard, is president of the company. The elder Mr. Lasar continued as vice-president, however.

Mr. Lasar was a friend of Jean Knott, cartoonist, and it was said frequently that he was the original of the character of "Eddie" in Knott's cartoon series "Penny Ante," published in the Post-Dispatch several years ago. "Eddie" was the invisible friend of the poker players, who were always calling his name, but he did not make appearance in the picture.

Besides his son, Mr. Lasar is survived by his wife, Mrs. Nellie K. Lasar; two daughters, Miss Madeleine Lasar and Mrs. Harold Emerson; a sister, Miss Nettie Lasar; and two brothers, G. H. Lasar of San Francisco, Cal., and Charles Lasar of Paris, France.

FORMER ST. LOUIS ACTRESS, "MADELEINE LOUIS," DIES

Mrs. Frederic W. Freeman Succumbs to Long Illness at Home at Falmouth, Me.

By the Associated Press. PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 19.—Mrs. Madeleine J. Freeman, widely known as an actress under the name of Madeleine Louis, a quarter of a century ago, died at her Falmouth home yesterday after a long illness.

Mrs. Freeman was born in St. Louis, where she made her first professional appearance at the age of 14. Among the productions in which she later played were "Man From Home," "Whitching Hour" and "Deep Purple."

Mrs. Freeman, whose maiden name was Madeleine Jean, had lived here since her marriage to Frederic W. Freeman 20 years ago. Her husband and her mother, a resident of St. Louis, survive.

62,529 VISIT FLOWER SHOW

Warm Weather May Shorten Chrysanthemum Exhibit.

Since the opening, Nov. 4, of the annual chrysanthemum show at Shaw's Garden, 62,529 persons have visited the display, which is expected to last another week. Replacements of wilted flowers have been made from a reserve stock, but the warm weather likely will shorten the time of the show, which customarily is maintained for a month.

There were 9838 visitors yesterday, 8432 during the week, and 44,259 during the first eight days of the show. On display are 4000 plants shown in the design of a Japanese garden.

NOTED CAMEO CARVER DIES

Louis Zoellner Succumbs at 82 at Brooklyn Home.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Louis Zoellner, 82 years old, one of the few remaining cameo carvers in the United States, died Saturday at his home in Brooklyn. The Metropolitan Museum was arranging for an exhibition of his work.

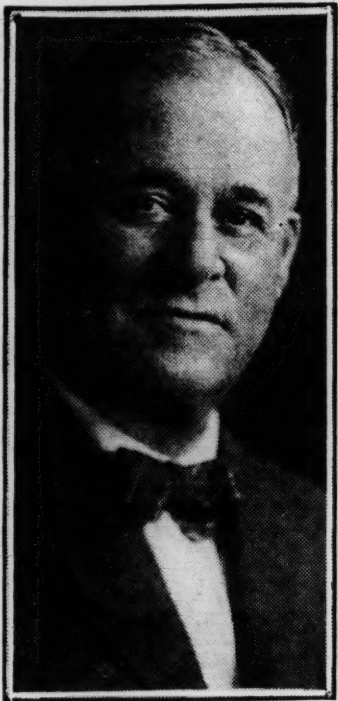

Robert Louis Stevenson once sat for him, and the cameo he carved of the writer was so fine it later was reproduced in bronze. Other notable works sat for Zoellner included President and Mrs. Roosevelt, B. Hayes, President Garfield, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, Peter Cooper, William Cullen Bryant and Edwin Booth.

PUBLIC MEETINGS AND ANNOUNCEMENTS

An exhibition of work by the 36 art teachers and supervisors of the St. Louis public schools began today at the Public Library, Fourteenth and Olive streets, and will continue through Dec. 9. Included are oil and water color paintings, prints, drawings, batiks and craft work.

John P. Quinn, national organizer of the Socialist Labor party, will speak Thursday night at 8 o'clock at the city hall in Granite City on "Trade or Industrial Unionism, Which?"

LEE MANTLE DIES AT 83; FORMER MONTANA SENATOR

Founder of Butte Newspaper, an Advocate of Free Coinage, Denied Seat in 1893.

By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19.—Lee Mantle, former United States Senator from Montana, died at his home here yesterday from a heart attack. His widow, Etta Daly Mantle, whom he married at 72, and his son, Lee Jr., will accompany the body to Butte, Mont., for burial Wednesday. He was 83 years old.

He founded the Butte Inter-Mountain, which later became the Butte Daily Post. He was chairman of the Montana Republican State Committee for several years.

Mr. Mantle was born in England, but came to this country at the age of 13. He became a United States Senator through a deadlock in the Montana Legislature of 1893 for the place of Senator Wilbur F. Sanders, whose term had expired.

Democrats sought to name W. A. Clark of Butte; the Republicans wanted to return Sanders. The Populists offered the name of Samuel Mulville. Others proposed Mantle. Two days after the session closed, Gov. Rickards appointed Mantle for the ad interim term.

The Senate refused him a seat. Though a Republican, he was known to favor free coinage of silver and that caused some Republican Senators to oppose him.

Gov. Rickards refused to summon the Legislature in special session and the matter went over to the legislative session of 1895. That Legislature was overwhelmingly Republican and Mr. Mantle was an easy winner for the four-year term, which expired in 1899.

PREACHES SERMON ON WORK OF WILLIAM GREENLEAF ELLIOT

The Rev. W. S. Swisher Tells of Foundation of Unitarian Church of Messiah in 1834.

The ministry of William Greenleaf Elliot, founder of the Unitarian Church of the Messiah and of Washington University, was described in a sermon preached yesterday in a preliminary observance of the church's 100th anniversary.

The Rev. Walter S. Swisher, pastor, was the preacher.

He told of Elliot's graduation from Harvard in 1834, and of his 24-day journey from Boston to St. Louis, where he arrived by steamboat. A series of agnostic lectures had been in progress in Ellihu Shepard's school house, and William Elliot announced a change in this program, saying that he proposed to organize a Christian church, which should stand for worship, service and education.

Pastor Elliot established a free school with 100 pupils, and drafted a memorial to the Legislature for a tax-supported school system. With 17 members of the church as incorporators, he founded Elliot Seminary, which became Washington University, of which Dr. Elliot was chancellor.

MRS. MARY ISOM PETRIE DIES

Widow, 86, an Invalid for 15 Years; Funeral Today.

900 U. S. EMPLOYEES FLUNK TEST, THEN SUE

Morgenthau Cited to Justify 'Horse Sense' Questions That Cost Them Jobs.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Nine hundred employees who failed to pass examinations and lost their jobs with the alcohol tax unit went to court about it today.

Through counsel, they obtained a ruling from the District of Columbia Supreme Court ordering Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau to show why a permanent injunction should not be issued restraining operation of the McKellar "ride," which required the tests. Samuel T. A. such counsel for the employees charged that the ride was passed under a misconception and that it is in direct conflict with civil service procedure.

Ansell asserted that when investigation of the status of the affected employees was begun in the Senate at the instance of Senator McKellar (Dem.), Tennessee, it was done on the plea that the workers had been brought into service without "real civil service examination; that practically all belonged to one political party (Republican)," and that such counsel for the employees charged that the ride was passed under a misconception and that it is in direct conflict with civil service procedure.

Test questions, drawn up by the Civil Service Commission and flunked by the 900 employees, brought complaints that the questions were better suited to recent college graduates than to experienced prohibition bureau workers. Some officials called them "horse sense" questions.

Some of the questions.

The commission, pronouncing "unfortunate" the legislation which caused it all, has made public its 80 "mental test" questions, with their correct answers, and the 25 more involved in its "observation test."

Here are some of the questions in the mental test with the number of the correct answer:

1. (1) often (2) sometimes (3) some (4) less (5) none. The correct answer is (5).

Apprehend means most nearly (1) avoid (2) condemn (3) admonish (4) frighten (5) capture. The correct answer is (5).

Limit is to boundary as frontier is to (1) danger (2) barricade (3) pioneer (4) border (5) customs. The correct answer is (4).

Mollify means most nearly (1) persuade (2) strengthen (3) please (4) correct (5) appease. The correct answer is (5).

Arithmetic Problems.

There were 18 of this "means most nearly" kind of questions, and 14 of the "is to" variety.

Sprinkled through were a few problems in arithmetic such as: "A person owning five-sevenths of a distillery sold three-fourths of his share for $9345. At that rate what is the total value of the distillery?" Answer: $17,444.

There were a lot of sayings such as "praise a fine day at night," which were to be joined by number with things that meant the same. For instance one was wrong if he said this meant "one enjoys pleasures most in remembrance."

Right if you linked it with "the real worth of things can be estimated only in retrospect." Fifteen long problems bore specifically on the liquor traffic.

By answering only 56 of the 80 questions, the commission pointed out, an eligible rating of 70 per cent could be acquired. However, less than 25 per cent of all who took the test passed. There were complaints from the American Federation of Government employees that no credit was given for experience, and that men who had been for many years in civil service had to compete at a disadvantage with boys fresh from college.

FATHER LYONS FORMALLY RECEIVES MONSIGNOR TITLE

Pastor of St. Plus' Church Praised in Address by Archbishop Glennon.

The Rev. John Lyons, founder and pastor of St. Plus' Catholic Church, Grand boulevard and Utah street, was formally vested with the rank of papal domestic prelate and the title of Monsignor by Archbishop Glennon yesterday afternoon.

In a brief address Archbishop Glennon paid particular tribute to the work of Father Lyons as presiding judge of the matrimonial court of the archdiocese and added that on his last visit to Rome he was informed by the Roman Curia that St. Louis was one of three American dioceses whose matrimonial courts always produced material on matrimonial cases on which it was easy to pass judgment, so sharply defined were the issues. The other two, he said, were New York and Philadelphia.

Auxiliary Bishop Winkelman, six Monsignori and about 60 priests attended the ceremony in St. Plus' Church, which Father Lyons founded in 1905.

More Scrambled Eggs.

THE highly scrambled heavyweight fight situation may become entirely hopeless, if King Levisky defeats Art Lasky, next Friday at Chicago. And the King has a habit of doing the unexpected.

Just now all heavyweight fights are being viewed as to their possibilities of developing a strong and colorful foe for Max Baer, next summer.

Thus far Steve Hamas is the "paper" choice, because he has defeated both Max Schmeling and Art Lasky. But he is not highly regarded by the Madison Square Garden brass department, which prefers Lasky to Hamas.

Levisky beats Lasky, therefore, officials will have to go into a huddle to stall off the absurd possibility that Levisky will then insist on a title fight with Baer.

Just how any of the contenders can aspire to a title fight, without first defeating Primo Carnera, is one of the points that is therefore highly probable that in February, economic conditions in Florida being right, either Levisky, Hamas, Lasky or Schmeling will oppose Carnera in Miami for the right to battle Baer.

The "heavy" fights of the winter will determine which of the four is to face the Man Mountain, no doubt.

At this writing it appears that the best thing that could happen, from the standpoint of the gate, would be for Carnera to flatten his rival at Miami. None of the four other prospects now under consideration seems to have either real power or much color.

Another "Open" Derby.

THE date of the Kentucky Derby of 1935, the sixty-first running, has been set for May 4, although not officially approved as yet. At this writing the event seems to have little or no color, due to the fact that the two-year-old crop of 1934 has been a little or nothing remarkable.

The juveniles have beaten one another and the fillies that started out to monopolize the situation also have suffered setbacks.

At one time it appeared that Black Helen, a Bradley candidate of the softer sex, would be the sensation of the two-year-old in her last races, possibly due to staleness. Even without this, the female of the species has been discredited for Derby purposes year after year, in convincing succession.

While the Derby still holds away as the most interesting event of the entire racing season, and the management is preparing to enlarge box accommodations for the public, the fall yearling meet in Kentucky this year was a loser. In the very stronghanded breeding industry, turf affairs have not been prosperous for some time, although Churchill Downs made a little money on its spring meeting.

Kentucky is unlikely to regain racing's former high-class reputation for a few years if the racing which has sprung up in so many centers of population, with greater facilities, and perhaps better facilities, than Kentucky can hardly hope to compete except in its spring meeting, with the Derby as its ace.

Bramham Expects 1935 to Be Boom Year in Minor Leagues

By the Associated Press. LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 19.—Confidence for a boom season in baseball next year was expressed today by W. G. Bramham, president of the National Association of professional baseball leagues.

Bramham is here for the annual three-day convention of the National Association of professional baseball leagues, which opens Wednesday.

Already, however, a number of early arrivals among the 1000 expected to attend the convention are in the midst of discussing the future of the game. Many indications are that a record number of ball tossers have new names before the meeting is over.

Bramham pointed out that 1934 was a better year than the preceding one and added that the National Association had five more clubs than in the preceding year.

World series and the playoff system may be expected when the meet in preliminary session today. The series between the permanent winner of the International

FLYERS TO OPEN TITLE CAMPAIGN AT KANSAS CITY

Hockey fans who want thrills and quick breaking plays; hard, vigorous body checking and sparkling defense work are going to witness just that at the Winter Garden this season when the Flyers swing into action in the American Hockey Association.

On a rink measuring 170x75 feet, the defense has a better chance of breaking up an attack than they would on many of the larger playing surfaces, where the forwards may dribble and stall before shooting. Playing on ice the size of the Winter Garden there can be only one method of attack. The first line will have to skate down and fast breaking plays for their scores.

The Winter Garden rink has been called the ideal playing area by the St. Louis Flyers.

In Pete Palangio, Paddy Padden, Gordon Teel and himself McPherson has shifty, fast and experienced forwards; in Joe Matte, Leo Carbol and Helge Bostrum he has stalwart defensemen; in Mickey Murray one of the finest goalies in the American League last year.

With but a few days remaining before they open the campaign, McPherson is running the Flyers at top speed.

McPherson was the player who drew the most comments. Modestly accepting the congratulations of many of the fans on his new job as manager he was anything but humble about the way he shot past the goalies during the practice session.

ST. MARY'S DEFEATS SANTA CLARA, 7 TO 0, BEFORE 60,000 FANS

By the Associated Press. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—St. Mary's Gaels continued their march over the Santa Clara Broncos, by virtue of a fumble recovered behind the Santa Clara goal line in their annual football game played in a driving rain yesterday.

The defeat dropped Santa Clara from the list of this year's undefeated eleven, although the Broncos and Stanford played a 7-7 tie.

More than half of the original crowd of 60,000 stuck around to see the Gaels make the winning play late in the third period.

Else's punt went out of bounds on the Bronco four-yard line, and punt out. He fumbled the wet ball and Pennino, Gael end, came through to fall on the ball behind the goal line. Kellogg, fullback, converted.

Gael gave Santa Clara three chances to score, but each time penalties or the stout Gael defense halted the threat.

Cubs Are Angling For Carl Hubbell, Giants' Southpaw

Special to the Post-Dispatch. CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—The Chicago Cubs will attend the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues meeting in Louisville, with a bulging pocketbook and in a bargaining mood.

The Cubs have made or will make bids for Carl Hubbell and Hall Schumacher of the New York Giants, Van Mungo of the Dodgers, and Larry French of the Pirates, it was reported here today.

It was also learned that the Cubs have never made a formal offer to the St. Louis Cardinals, but are ready to dig deep and bid high if there is any intimation that pitching brothers are on the market.

Sam Breadon, president of the Cardinals, said today that he may find it necessary to postpone his trip to Florida for several days. He had planned to leave St. Louis today.

"I may not be able to get away before Friday or Saturday," said Breadon this morning.

Any delay, however, is not due to anything that has happened in connection with the sale of the club but to things that are coming up in the automobile business.

Breadon is head of the Western Automobile Co.

Low Wentz, the Oklahoma oil man who is making an effort to purchase the Cardinals, returned to his home at Ponca City, Ok., Saturday. He indicated that he would be back in St. Louis by Thursday.

Officially, the deal for the transfer of Breadon's controlling interest is "off," but circumstances point to a resumption of negotiations at an early date.

MAPLEWOOD WOLVES WIN FROM QUADS, 7 TO 6; WILDCATS TRIUMPH

The league-leading Quadrangle Club Quads, "took it on the chin" yesterday afternoon for the second successive Sunday, as the pace-setters fell before the last-place Maplewood Wolves, 7 to 6, in the feature of two games before 1000 fans at the Maplewood Athletic Park.

In the last two weeks, the Quads, losing twice in the league last week, are still in four triumphs in a row with a record of 6-2, while the Wolves, who trimmed the Van's Flyers, 4 to 0, in the second game yesterday, have a 3-2 mark with four victories and three losses.

"Moose" Nesbitt's Wolves seem to be the revamped club of the league, leading both the second place and last two Sundays, after getting off to a bad start which resulted in The Wolves, by virtue of their triplce place over the Flyers, who now hold down the cellar.

Next Sunday's games will give the Wolves a chance to tie for the league and will also give the Flyers a chance to come back into third place if victorious over the Wolves.

"DIZZIEST" FOOTBALL SEASON ENTERS FINAL STAGES OF PLAY

MINNESOTA AND ALABAMA ARE RATED EVEN IN RACE FOR TITLE

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The "dizziest" football season in memory enters its final stages this week with sectional championships all along the life line still far from ultimate solution.

There will be a definite slackening of the rapid pace except in the Midwest, where the Big Ten winds up the campaign with a five-game program, but such individual clashes as the Army-Notre Dame duel at New York, the tussle of Harvard and Yale's giant-killing Elis, and Stanford's crucial joust with California will serve to keep interest at a high pitch in the East and Far West.

Out of the latest cannonading which struck down Princeton, Illinois, Syracuse, Navy and Santa Clara only Alabama's mighty Crimson Tide and the powerful Gophers of Minnesota emerged unscathed. These two alone among major teams still could point with legitimate pride to unbeaten and untied records. They were odds-on choices to finish that way.

Minnesota's Power.

Minnesota flashed the same overwhelming power it has shown all season in walloping Chicago, 35-7, last week, but the Gophers will need to be wary of Doc Spears' dangerous Badgers, who summarily removed Illinois from the ranks of the unbeaten and from the Big Ten title race as well, 7 to 3. Alabama, now considered the leading contender for an invitation to the Rose Bowl, swamped Georgia Tech, 49-0, and should roll over Vanderbilt's Commodores, who lost their second game of the season when Tennessee pounded out a 13-6 victory.

Stanford, punching through the San Francisco Olympic Club, 40-0, will be heavily favored to trip California, but Bobby Grayson and his Cardinal mates anticipate no walk-away. Disappointing most of the season, California has come back with a bang the last two weeks, whipping Southern California, 20-0, and Idaho's strong eleven over a 45-13 count. If Stanford wins as expected, the Cardinals are almost certain to be named Far Western representatives for the Rose Bowl game.

After astonishing feat in hand, Princeton's Tigers their first losing in 16 games still had the football world reeling today and served to establish the Elis as well-defined favorites over Harvard this week. Favoring throughout the game without a substitution, the Elis in blue put on a magnificent defense against Princeton's varied power and won, 7-0, as the result of one dazzling forward passing play by Jerry Roscoe, sharp-shooting quarterback, and Lawrence Kelley, end.

New interest was added to the Army-Notre Dame game when Elmer Layden's Hoosiers finally discovered a scoring, as well as a ground-gaining, punch and pounded Northwestern, 20-7.

Rice Wins Again.

Developments over the week-end found Rice's Owls protecting their hold on the Southwestern Conference lead by trouncing Texas A. & M., 26-6. Utah State continued its drive toward Rocky Mountain Conference honors with a 37-0 rout of Colorado Mines; Tulane and Louisiana State keep pace with Alabama for the Southeastern crown by walloping Kentucky, 20-7, and Mississippi, 14-0, respectively; and Kansas State and Nebraska remain deadlocked in the Big Six race.

The defeat of Princeton, Navy and Syracuse left the Eastern situation in a terrific muddle. Not a major team in the sector was left in the "perfect record" class, although Temple and Western Maryland both were undefeated but tied one. Most critics were inclined to rate Pittsburgh and Colgate at the top, especially in view of the Panthers' 31-7 drubbing of Navy and Colgate's well-earned 13-2 defeat over its traditional rival, Syracuse.

With many of the outstanding teams taking the week off to prepare for Thanksgiving day commencing this week's program lined up as follows:

PAST: Yale and Harvard, Army and Notre Dame will be the leading fixtures. Temple will try to perfect its undefeated record against Villanova. Colgate's red and white will deploy against Rutgers, with Columbia and Syracuse, Princeton and Dartmouth, Bucknell and Penn State, and Duquesne and Colgate as the leading pairings.

MIDWEST.—Wisconsin is the field obstacle in Minnesota's drive to the Big Ten title with Purdue's Boilermakers hoping to whip Indiana and thus gain at least a share in the crown. Ohio State, regarded in some quarters as the second best team in the conference, despite the one-point defeat by Illinois, plays Iowa, while Chicago collides with Illinois and Michigan with Northwestern, Nebraska and Kansas State, if they beat Missouri and Iowa State, respectively, this week will meet Thanksgiving day in the title that will decide the Big Six title.

55,000 See Chicago Bears Beat Giants, 10-9, on Field Goal in Final 50 Seconds

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The great winning streak of the Chicago Bears, National Football League champions, remained intact today thanks to the educated toe of Jack Manders, whose field goal with only 50 seconds left to play enabled the Bears to nose out the New York Giants, 10 to 9, before 55,000 fans at the Polo Grounds yesterday.

The game was featured by savage tackling and frequent fisticuffs, the latter being overlooked by the officials.

Trailing 9 to 0, with but eight minutes to play, the Bears, including 47 yards to a touchdown in four plays, Nagurski ripping the New York line to shreds and Feathers scoring. Manders, rushed into the game, kicked the important extra point. A few minutes later he split the uprisings for a field goal from the 24-yard line after Krause of the Giants fumbled.

Strong scored for the Eastern leaders in the second period and they picked up two more points on a safety.

The Bears haven't been beaten in their last 29 games, including league and exhibition contests. They are tied with Detroit for first place in the Western division of the league.

Chicago's Cardinals blanked the Green Bay Packers 9 to 0 at Milwaukee. Griffith's 65-yard run for a touchdown featured.

Alabama Likely To Get Bid for Rose Bowl Battle

By the Associated Press.

PASADENA, Cal., Nov. 19.

The chances were strong today that the Rose Bowl bid will go to the South this year, with Alabama, a successful previous visitor, favored to make a return bow.

The Crimson tide and the Big Ten Gophers of Minnesota stood out as the nation's leading unbeaten and untied eleven and the chances were high when the Pacific Coast Conference's champion—probably Stanford—sends out its call, the "Bama boys will get it."

Should the faculty of the Western Conference suddenly relent and break the Big Ten's post-season game shackles, Minnesota would be neck and neck with Alabama in the race for the invitation.

The standard.

BILLIKENS BEGIN PREPARING FOR BEARS' CONTEST

By James M. Gould

A severe shock may have either to action or further induce coma. Followers of St. Louis University football today are wondering just what effect that Kirkville shock will have on the Billikens.

Ten days intervene before the Thanksgiving day game with the Washington University Bears and the Billikens have much to do in that time. Hitherto, Coach Mueller has been able to stress attack practice, letting the defense take care of itself to a certain extent. But, after that Kirkville performance, it is evident that neither the St. Louis offense nor the defense can be let alone. Both need fixing.

The St. Louis offense against the Teachers was pitiful but the backs weren't to blame. You can't go anywhere without a start and that supposedly strong Billiken line was sieve-like as the Kirkville forwards came through and stopped the back before the line of scrimmage was reached. As for the defense, strong in earlier games, it, too, went haywire against Kirkville and was about as inefficient as was the offense.

Opinion of observers is fast veering to the conclusion that a pair of new tackles wouldn't hurt the St. Louis line any. Axtell and Conlon are the biggest pair but their work, this season, has been below what was expected from the two veterans. Now, without good tackle no line can be considered strong and as Axtell and Conlon have developed "structural" weakness, so has a good line sunk to mediocrity.

These things being true, members of the Billiken team may expect no rest for the next week. Probably wholesale changes will be made in the St. Louis battle-front and, observers say, if none are made, some should be. A line that will charge and block, a line that, at least will appear fairly interested in the field proceedings, is necessary to a good showing against Washington and such a line-combination will be sought in the days of practice remaining.

And, there is no danger that the Billikens will understate the Bears. Such may have been the case with the Kirkville Teachers. If so, the Billikens must have learned their lesson by about the bitterest method known to football.

Ozzie Bentzinger was powerful at right tackle. He loves to play football and his spirit is reflected in his play. John Landry, a quipped himself at the other tackle and Irving Lundy and Tony Konvicka made the Tigers sick of the ground. Al Iezzi, an outstanding athlete, did a great job at center and Ed Niehaus and Roy Martinotti had reason to be well satisfied with their performances.

It was the fine work of the line that made it possible for the ball carriers to shine so brilliantly. Harry Brown and Chick Droke had a large afternoon and Mike Zbovovski was dependable on the defense and smartly alert in directing the attack.

BEARS JUSTLY PROUD OF FINE EXECUTION IN MISSOURI GAME

Bears Set New Washington U. Scoring Record

JIMMY CONELMAN'S Bears, with two games still on the schedule, have scored more points than any other Washington football team ever registered. The 40 points against the Missouri Tigers Saturday afternoon brought the total to 185, five points more than the previous high record of 180, established by the Washington team of 1914.

In 1918 the Washington athletes tallied 141 and in 1918 climbed to 163 points.

By J. Roy Stockton

Washington University's football squad, happy over the victory scored against the Missouri Tigers Saturday, will rest today and start preparation tomorrow for the Thanksgiving day contest with the Billikens of St. Louis University.

Except for Walter Gog's broken nose and a few minor bruises, the Bears went through the Missouri game without casualties and can be expected to be at top strength for the annual battle for the city championship.

Coach Jimmy Conzelman and his assistant, Gale Bulman, were delighted with the fine showing of the Bears against the Tigers and today were still receiving compliments from fans, coaches and officials who saw the game.

A scout from Nebraska sent word to Conzelman that the Bears had showed the best running attack he had seen all year and that the Washington team was a better machine than any he had seen in the Six Six.

Coaches Happy, Too.

"We were pleased with the way the team worked," Conzelman said last night. "The execution was excellent. Every man did his part and the blocking and tackling couldn't have been better."

Observers generally agreed that Washington could have doubled its score against the Tigers, if the first string backs and linemen had stayed in the game longer and if the Bear athletes had tried for a larger total.

Rough play tended to hold down the score, some of the players confessed after smoke of battle had cleared. The injury to Walter Gog enraged the Washington players.

Gog plays hard, but is a smiling, unbothered gentlemanly fellow. And according to the Bear, one of the Tigers, angry at the defeat they were taking, permitted his fist or elbow to smash into Gog's nose.

"After that the backs didn't get much help from the linemen on offense," an observer close to the action complained. "And the players who hit Gog in the nose got more than he bargained for through the rest of the game. It was a swell job. It was remarkable the way that slugging found himself in the center of action on every play."

Bullman had reason to be proud of the way the Washington line performed. It was a team victory, essentially, with every man doing his part to make the machine click so beautifully. Les Brungard and Glenn Muller played brilliantly at the wing positions and the Tigers soon learned that it was useless to try plays around the ends.

Ralph Bentzinger was powerful at right tackle. He loves to play football and his spirit is reflected in his play. John Landry, a quipped himself at the other tackle and Irving Lundy and Tony Konvicka made the Tigers sick of the ground. Al Iezzi, an outstanding athlete, did a great job at center and Ed Niehaus and Roy Martinotti had reason to be well satisfied with their performances.

INJURIES WIPE OUT SOCCER PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION FUNDS

CONFRONTED with a yawning, vacant treasury, the Board of Governors of the Soccer Players' Protective Association will meet at Sherman Park Community Center tonight to discuss ways and means of raising more funds.

A series of major accidents, including two broken legs, a broken foot, a broken wrist and a ruptured intestine, have already consumed the money raised through dues (each player in St. Louis pays $1 per season).

It is probable that a soccer program will be arranged, probably a mixed amateur-professional card.

CENTRALS AND MARRES WIN IN SOCCER LEAGUE

By Dent McKimming

As has been the case for several seasons, the St. Louis Soccer League race has resolved itself into a duel between the team sponsored by Johnny Marre and that owned by Jack Dwyer. In the past they have been known as the Andersons and the Stix, but this season it is the Marres against the Centrals.

Both won their league games at Sportsman's Park yesterday afternoon and strengthened their grasp on first and second places, respectively, in the league's standing, the Marres defeating the Hellrung & Grimms, 2 to 1, and the Centrals walloping the Ben Millers, 4 to 0.

The triumph of the Marre club indicates that the loss of Benny Nash (out with a broken foot) has not wrecked the forward line. Bill LaPosha was at Nash's position, and while he did not at any time work up an understanding with his wingman, McAuliffe, he displayed enough football skill to warrant the assumption that he will remain on the job. Nash's value to the club chiefly was his work in midfield and his combination play with McAuliffe. LaPosha looks to be a more forceful but not so "heady" a player as Nash.

Marres Gain Early Lead.

After McAuliffe had driven through a perfect first-time shot on a long cross from Bregle, a corner kick from McAuliffe's side put the Marres two goals up, early in the game. It was not until late in the second half that the Hellrungs went on the attack with real effect. Their Center Half Julio Gonzales started the Marres and the fans with a well-placed long shot from outside the penalty zone, making it 2-1. With hopes of a tie, the Hellrungs pressed with great vigor, but the Marres were very close to getting a second goal. Zensen, Joe Garcia and Kenny were especially prominent in the Marre defense during the last trying 10 minutes.

For the first time this season the Central club displayed some of the tactics of power that the two straight national championships, with Jimmy Roe and Jimmy Nolan back in the lineup the team bore some resemblance to the Stix of last spring, and if some further changes which the management is under consideration materialize this team will be hard to beat.

Jim Watson, a sturdy youngster from Gillespie was given a trial at center forward. He has played a lot of football but never before at the center position and he cornered for the Marres. He went through late in the first half and had his foot cocked for a shot when he was brought down by Fullback Mike Connors. Referee Jimmy Dunn awarded a penalty kick and Watson drove the ball into the corner for a score. Connors protested so vigorously against Dunn's decision that he was ordered off the field.

Two Goals for Gonzales.

Other goals for the Centrals were scored by McLean, in the opening minutes on a fine first-time shot; two by Gonzales, one with the head and the other with foot shot from a very narrow angle.

The Millers didn't function well as a team although several individuals in the team were quite as attractive as their rivals on the other club. It seemed that young Strattman, playing at inside right, might combine to better advantage with Mulroy on the left wing.

Eddie Kane, a disappointment as a forward, was a decided improvement when dropped back to right halfback. Against ordinary opposition he may go well in that spot for the Centrals.

Gonzales remained at his inside right position instead of taking a try at center halfback. It appears that when the new player (or players) arrive from out of town, it will not be necessary to take "plano legs" out of his customary inside position. It is reported from a reliable source that a nationally-known center forward and an equally well established center halfback are due to join the Central club very shortly.

New Mixed Pin League.

A mixed league, with two women and two men on each team, is being organized at the Washington Recreation to bowl on the first and third Sunday nights of every month starting Dec. 2 at 8 o'clock. The schedule calls for 14 matches. The only prize to be paid will be based on the standings of the teams. For further information call the alleys, Garfield 8953.

John Carroll Wins, 19-0.

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 19.—Capitalizing on the breaks, John Carroll University's Blue Streaks defeated a heavier team from St. Victor College, Bourbonnais, Ill., 19 to 0, yesterday.

Tommy Ozzie, substitute for Zbovovski, and a smart little general, figured in the complicated lateral-forward pass play that netted a touchdown. Tommy chucked the ball from one sideline to the other diagonally across the field and Wimberly easily made the catch in the clear and ran to the scoring zone.

For a time the Bears were baffled by the long Notre Dame forward passes that Art Lochner was throwing in the second quarter. Lochner was giving ground rapidly, waiting for an opening and the ends were going down wide. The result was an open lane into which Lochner threw the passes. However, a substitute was sent in with instructions for a change in defense after the Tigers scored and the passing attack quickly subsided.

Only one team, the Russo New Deals of the Fairground No. 3 division, remain unscathed upon in the Municipal Soccer League. The Russos defeated the Strodtman, 1-0, yesterday afternoon, thus dropping their opponents from the same classification and also sending them into second place.

This contest was a feature of the fifth round of games played before approximately 27,000 fans. The winning goal, driven into the net by Capt. Longo, during a lively scrimmage, was scored in the first half, and after that the issue was strictly up to the Russo goalkeeper, Huma. He didn't fail and he thus remains the only goalkeeper who has not been scored upon this season.

Holy Rosary also dropped out of the select circle yesterday when it was held to a 1-1 tie by the Eighth Ward Democrats at Fairground No. 5, while incidentally not scoring a goal. The Holy Rosary score was a "gift." Fullback A. Podgony accidentally stuffing a ball into the net.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 19.—"We were beaten by the best team I ever saw anywhere," said Coach George G. Blinn after the Detroit Lions' 40-7 victory over the St. Louis Gunners in a National Football League game yesterday afternoon.

The Lions have more speed and driving power than any other club I've seen, college or pro," said Blinn.

"Maybe there have been teams with better passing attacks but they did not have the all-around effectiveness of the Lions. They overpowered us and I think they'll beat the Chicago Bears for the championship of the western division."

Walsh and his Gunners were to leave for home at noon today. Some of the players were badly bruised in yesterday's battle but the coach said none was hurt seriously enough to prevent his playing against the Pittsburgh Pirates in St. Louis next Sunday.

The Gunners' loss here was their first since joining the National League. It just couldn't be helped. The Lions simply carried too many physical advantages and dominated the contest virtually all the way.

The game remained, however, for St. Louis to provide the most spectacular play of the rainy afternoon. Late in the third period, the Gunners were deep in their own territory. To be exact, the ball was on their 29-yard line. Rapp, the fullback who used to play for St. Louis, threw a long pass in a diagonal direction. Paul Moss caught it near midfield and seeing nothing but daylight ahead streaked for the touchdown that saved St. Louis from a shutout. Alford kicked the extra point.

In gaining their tenth successive victory of the season to tie the league record held by Green Bay and the Bears, the Lions tallied in every period. Within five minutes after the opening kick-off, they staged an uninterrupted march of 53 yards that culminated in Gutowski crossing the goal line and Presnell converting the point.

The second score of the first period followed a kick by Swede Johnston of St. Louis that was partly blocked. The ball rolled on of bounds on the Gunners' 33-yard line from where Presnell passed to Cadell, who raced unhampered for a touchdown. Presnell again added the point.

Early in the second period, the Gunners were backed up against their own goal line. Standing deep in the end zone, Senn tried to kick out of danger. The kicked was blocked and recovered by Detroit on the five-yard mark. The St. Louis line held against two thrusts but on the third Cadell started off tackle for a touchdown. This time Presnell's place kick for the point was low.

Fumble Helps Lions.
 A fumble gave the Lions another touchdown before the team went to the dressing rooms for the intermission. A punt got away from Casper and was scooped up by Ebling on St. Louis' 22-yard line. Presnell cracked center in vain and then tossed to Ebling for a touchdown. Once more Presnell place kicked the point.

In the third period, the Lions increased their lead to 33 to 0, when Presnell smashed off St. Louis' left tackle for a touchdown after a concerted drive had brought the ball to the 16-yard line.

Before the period ended, the Gunners cut the margin to 33 to 7 on the Rapp-Moss passing combination. It encouraged the Gunners that were stopped for short of the goal. It did not slow down the Lions, who continued to have things much their own way. Finally, they added a sixth touchdown in the fourth period. Taking one of Johnston's punts on the St. Louis 34-yard line, the Lions immediately advanced for a first down on the 10-yard stripe. Here a penalty for holding cost them 15 yards, but Gutowski regained the distance with seven yards to spare on the next formation. That put the ball on the three-yard line.

Gutowski moved it two yards on

Pittsburgh University has one of the highest priced football teams in the country. It costs $100.00 cents per man to equip a squad of Panthers. Among some of the items might be mentioned shoes, $14 a pair; shoulder guards, $10.75; helmet, $8.50.

STRUTT STILL LEADS FOOTBALL SCORERS
 By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Although held scoreless while his team bowed to Carnegie Tech last week, Art Strutt, Duquesne fullback, still leads the nation in the race for individual football scoring honors today.

The leader in each of the country's major groups or conferences follows:

a plunge through guard, after which Presnell rounded end for a touchdown and kicked the extra point to conclude the day's scoring. Detroit made 12 first downs to eight for the Gunners and gained 268 yards to 92 by rushing the ball. St. Louis completed five of 16 passes for a total gain of 103 yards. Detroit completed four out of 10 for 96 yards.

Zuppke Says Washington's Big Total Over Missouri Proves Score Against Illini No Fluke

By Bob Zuppke, University of Illinois Coach.

The secret of the strength of Minnesota is a great line, which was again demonstrated as the Gophers swept Chicago out of their path. The Minnesota line would make ordinary backs look good, but the Gophers have some exceptional backs.

The Minnesota linemen are big fellows, quick-starters and hard-drivers. Chicago was no push-over for the Maroons made a 50-yard withdrawal early in the third period, when the Gophers took a decisive lead, the Maroon punch was gone. A team of the Minnesota caliber can make a pretty good team look bad, and since Berwanger was withdrawn early in the third period, when the Gophers took a decisive lead, the Maroon punch was gone.

Ohio State again showed its strength by running all over Michigan. The Buckeye victory was to be expected. It is a hard task to rally after a losing season like Michigan's, especially when matched against a strong person such as Ohio State's.

Notre Dame Wins on Trick Play.
 Notre Dame made a great effort against Notre Dame which, although a losing one, was a credit to the Wildcats. The turning point seems to have been a play which is styled by some commentators as "deception." I think it falls more in the category of a "trick," which I suggest without implying anything unsavory. The Irish quarter-back walked back ostensibly to talk to the fullback, but the ball was snapped, catching Northwestern flat-footed. Michigan near the goal line used to stage an argument between some players to gain the same result. Despite Northwestern's valiant challenge, Notre Dame showed general alertness, speed and execution that turned the tide.

Purdue did very well to invade New York and bump off Fordham by one touchdown, as the Boilers makers probably took this one in their stride and could not have been highly keyed. Another Purdue touchdown was nullified for a holding penalty.

Take a Look at Washington.
 The Michigan team that Indiana defeated lost a game to Navy by a 16-to-13 score earlier in the season and the victory of the Hoosiers was not to be sneezed at. It will serve to inspire them for their traditional closing game against Purdue.

Missouri has not done very well in recent years, but did you notice the size of the score by which Washington (St. Louis) beat the Tigers? It was 40 to 13, the worst defeat that Missouri has suffered in its history.

Washington team which played at St. Louis is the same as the team which played at St. Louis. In addition, the team which played at St. Louis is the same as the team which played at St. Louis.

Each was "on his game" in the playoff, but all Armour could get was a 76 and Cooper a 79 for the 18 holes. The winner was the one who was "on his game" in the playoff.

Among the changes already made at Oakmont, in preparation for next year's event, is a more severely trapped No. 17 green, and a new No. 4 tee, making the hole longer and more difficult to play.

In addition, more traps and bunkers are being installed, similar to those that have ruined many a good man's chance of winning a title. Even back in 1927, the incomparable Bobby Jones finished far down in the list of open contenders with an aggregate 30.

Oakmont will have a length of approximately 7000 yards for the coming championship. The layout, with its "face lifted," will allow no latitude for wild shots of any sort.

The lengths of the holes will be so arranged that they will require placement and power to equal the par 72, and little opportunity will be offered for picking up missed or inferior shots.

BICYCLE HANDICAP WON BY HARTMAN
 The 15-mile Turkey Handicap race sponsored by the St. Louis Cycling Club was won by Carl Hartman yesterday, and the winner went home with a 20-pound turkey as prize.

Hartman's time was 39:52. The best time from scratch was made by Ray Florman, one-handed rider two years ago, who rode his first race and won it with a 15-minute handicap.

The one-mile women's race was won by Ruth Martin, who made the distance in 2 minutes and 23 seconds.

Men—Carl Hartman, 39:52; John Freitag, 39:54; William Hinrichs, 40:05; Ray Florman, 38:43; Ken Connor, 38:52; Philman, 39:54; J. W. McInnes, 40:06; Chester Nelson, 40:12; J. Setvak, 42:25; D. Dunnivant, 44:07.

Women—Ruth Martin, 2:23; Catherine Freitag, 2:28; Alice Bruckner, 2:26; Adele Jepp, 2:31; Alberta Remy, 2:36.

Ice Races Tonight.
 Races in nine divisions, including two events in the series to decide the St. Louis team to compete in the U. S. Olympic speed trials at Minneapolis in January, will be featured on the Arena Athletic Club's third weekly ice carnival tonight. Thirteen events are scheduled. Part of the proceeds of 10-cent admissions goes to the Olympic Fund.

HIGH SCHOOL LEAGUE HEADS TO MEET TODAY

By Harold Tuthill.

A meeting of the City High School League athletic board has been called for 3:15 o'clock to discuss problems pertaining to the final football doubleheader next Saturday at the Public Schools Stadium.

The original schedule lists the championship game between McKinley and Roosevelt first, at 1 o'clock, to be followed by the Cleveland-Soldan contest at 3 p. m. That will be one of the matters to be considered by the league board.

Another item that will be called to their attention will be the post-season game with the Louisville (Ky.) champion, to be played there Dec. 8. The contract with the Louisville School Board provides that the game shall be played with the St. Louis champion, but it is possible for the season to end in a three-way tie between McKinley, Roosevelt and Cleveland. If that happens, then the school that will represent Louisville probably will have to be chosen by lots.

At present, McKinley leads the procession with four victories in a many starts, so if the Goldbugs win from Roosevelt, that will make the task of the board easier. Cleveland is tied with Roosevelt for second place with three victories and a defeat and the Carondelet eleven can become co-holder of first place if it wins from Soldan and Roosevelt upsets McKinley.

Raymond C. Lewis of Beaumont, league secretary, will preside at the meeting.

Maplewood Gains Title.
 Officials in the St. Louis County League have no worries about which team will be champion, because Maplewood settled that by defeating University City, 7 to 6, in the final game of the season for the Maple Leafs. The victory gave Coach Ben Douglas' team a record of five victories and one tie in the six county games. The loss ended University City's perennial claim to the title, after the Indians had won the title for the past six years.

University City will close its campaign Saturday, when it goes to Mexico, Mo., to meet the Missouri Military Academy.

Two other leagues will also wind up their activity this week. St. Louis University High will play Christian Brothers for third place in the Preparatory League, while Country Day, "A" division leader in the "ABC" League, will host to Burroughs Saturday. The "B" and "C" teams will play a doubleheader in the morning at Country Day.

Alton, having won all six of its games in the Madison St. Clair Conference and thereby gaining the championship, will rest until Thanksgiving, when it will entertain Western Military Academy.

Preparatory League University City and Madison will finish their 1934 program Saturday at Madison.

The only other contest scheduled Saturday is that between Principia College and Culver-Stockton, at Canton, Mo.

BARTENDERS' UNION ADVISES KANSAS CITY TO 'TIGHTEN UP'

Organizer Compares Conditions to Barbary Coast; More Control Urged in Resolution.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 19.—

Frank L. Johnston of Washington, international organizer of the Bartenders' Union, said today Kansas

City must "tighten up" or the prohibitionists would again assume con-rol.

"Kansas City is like many other cities," said Johnston, who has been here the last two weeks in the interests of the Bartenders' Union.

"The situation on East Twelfth street in Kansas City, where most places are selling liquor indiscreetly, almost equals the palmy days of Paris and the infamous

Barbary Coast of San Francisco."

Members of the union here have adopted a resolution, copies of which were sent to members of the Missouri Legislature, which says:

"We favor a uniform license fee for all places dispensing malt or spirits beverages, and believe this fee should be high enough to eliminate the 'lean joint' and 'small dives' so that the legitimate, full-licensed places may earn a return

on the investment, thereby insuring decent working conditions and wages to the employees in the industry, and better compliance with the laws relating to the sale of in-toxic substances, and to the effect of the law to the effect that no

minor, either male or female, be employed in any capacity, in any house dispensing intoxicating beverages."

Cardinal Gasparri had one of

the busiest lives ever recorded in the church. He worked almost until the end. Wednesday afternoon he gave a long lecture on the history

a world wide congress attended

by several American delegates. He had worked for years on codifica-

tion of canon law.

Wanted to Resign Cardinalate.

He told his audience that some time ago, feeling weighed down by

Cardinal Gasparri had been Secretary of State under two popes.

In 1922 he was nominated by the pope to head the church after his death, but Gasparri died first. He was regarded as one of the most able diplomats that ever occupied the Secretary of State's post and as one of the outstanding authorities on canon law. He was a strong opponent of Fascism.

One of his great achievements

was the restoration of friendly relations between the Vatican and Italy. In the long negotiations that led to that result he was chief spokesman for the pope.

At the bedside when the end came were Cardinal Gasparri's confessor, Dr. Modesto; his physician, Dr. Gasparri; and Dr. Zeri; his nephew, Cardinal Enrico Gasparri;

another nephew, Archbishop Bernardini, apostolic delegate to Australia, together with other nephews and nieces and many prelates.

Cardinals, prelates and civil dignities, including the governors of Rome and Vatican City, visited his house during the day and signed the register betokening hope for his recovery.

Almost until the end the dying

churchman retained a clear mind,

hoping to complete his strength, he laughed and joked with his nurses.

Late in the afternoon his doctors performed a second blood-letting operation, hoping to better his heart action, but the expedient was of no avail.

Cardinal Gasparri had one of

the busiest lives ever recorded in the church. He worked almost until

the end. Wednesday afternoon he

gave a long lecture on the history

of codification of canon law before

a world wide congress attended

by several American delegates. He had worked for years on codifica-

tion of canon law.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Raw sugar was quiet, early today and no sales were reported, although the undertone was firm and there was nothing firmly offered on the spot but a 100. Overquoted Philippine futures for use next year were offered at 2.65.

Futures opened at unchanged to 2 points higher, with the December position showing a maximum decline under scattered liquidation, while the late months held relatively steady on further liquidation. The initial offerings were readily absorbed, however, and after the market was quiet, the undertone was Cuban support and continued trade buying.

December contracts sold up from 1.66 to 1.88, while from 1.81 to 1.82, or back to the 1.80 level, in the early trading, and then to 1.84, midway behind around these levels. The volume of business was moderate.

CANDIDATES WARM UP FOR SPEAKERSHIP RACE

Congressman Byrns to Arrive in Washington Today to Push Candidacy.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Speakership candidates will gather here this week to begin six weeks of campaigning before 322 House Democrats meet in party caucus about Dec. 31 to pick their Speaker. Representative Joseph W. Byrns of Tennessee, Democratic floor leader, and Sam Rayburn of Texas, whose followers claim support in some administration quarters, are the leading candidates.

Byrns is to arrive Monday. Rayburn already is on the ground. Representatives William B. Bankhead of Alabama, John E. Rankin of Mississippi and James M. Mead of New York also are to return to the capital during the week. The Tennessee claims he has enough pledged votes to win. It requires 163, provided all members are present at the party caucus. Advocates of other candidates dispute this claim. They exhibit letters from scores of members saying that they are not committed to any candidate.

Meanwhile, Democratic politicians in New York, New England and Pennsylvania are said to be lining up House members in their states to support a West-North leadership ticket composed of Rayburn for Speaker and John W. McCormack of Massachusetts for leader.

Edward J. Flynn, New York Secretary of State and Bronx Democratic leader, and Senator-elect Joseph Guffey of Pennsylvania are reported to be backing this team. Further, New York does not plan to put up an organization candidate for the speakership because it already has men in the presidency, three Cabinet and three Supreme Court places and numerous others as heads of big Federal agencies.

Mead, however, has been mentioned as running mate of Byrns. Nevertheless, Northern Democrats, who control 149 Democratic votes compared with 129 in the South and 44 in the West, have served notice on the Southerners that, while the South might have the speakership, they will insist upon the leadership, or might take both. Rayburn's followers claim that with 21 Texas, 23 Pennsylvania, 29 New York, 16 New England and other votes pledged in North Carolina, Kentucky, Ohio, Missouri, Indiana, Louisiana, Illinois, Maryland, New Jersey, Arkansas and elsewhere, the Texas has a head start.

On the other hand, Byrns has the Democratic delegation in Tennessee, and support in Georgia, Florida, Missouri, Indiana, Oklahoma, West Virginia, North and South Carolina, Arkansas, Illinois, a number of Western states and other Northern states including Illinois, Michigan and Iowa.

The Alabama delegation is backing Bankhead, chairman of the Rules Committee. In addition he has pledged votes in Georgia, North Carolina and other states. Rankin is supported by the Mississippi delegation and has advocates in Western liberal states. House members on the whole do not consider Representative Green of Florida a particular threat in the race. Representative Jones of Texas, withdrew and threw his support to Rayburn.

Some uncommitted Democrats say they are withholding pledges to candidates to determine which of the field the administration desires. They have been told the White House wants a strong leadership and they assert that with the overwhelming results of the election on the "New Deal" issue, the responsibility for indicating a choice rests upon the Chief Executive. The White House thus far, however, has held hands off.

MANUFACTURERS SUMMONED TO CONFERENCE ON NEW DEAL

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Every manufacturer in the United States is urged to attend a "national industrial congress" called to draft "constructive recommendations" for presentation to President Roosevelt in an invitation sent out through the National Association of Manufacturers by 50 leading business men, including John J. Raskob, former chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

At this gathering, which will convene in New York on Dec. 5, the attitude of industry toward the new deal will be definitely decided, the invitation committee said. "Industry has before it at this time a duty of imposing proportions that must be met squarely," read the invitation. "Recovery problems confront the country. They demand the best thought and help of all the people. Elected officials who invited assistance are entitled to the full assistance of industry in working out a sound basis of co-operation which will restore economic stability."

"The major question is not what has been done in the past but what new steps are necessary to bring recovery."

Questions to be considered include: How to relieve distress and at the same time not plunge the nation into bankruptcy or threaten its credit? What new moves to curtail unemployment are practical and feasible? Invitations to address the gathering have been sent to Donald R. Richberg, Prof. Raymond Moley, Prof. Neal Carothers of Lehigh University, and former Gov. Walter J. Kohler of Wisconsin.

FORBIDS BEER PRICE CUT BY BELLEVILLE BREWERY

Circuit Judge Mudge Issues Temporary Writ Asked by NRA Director.

A temporary injunction, restraining the Star-Perless Brewery of Belleville from selling beer below the NRA code price for the Tenth Regional District of the Code Authority of the Brewing Industry, was granted today by Circuit Judge Mudge at Belleville.

The court held the brewery was guilty of unfair competition as defined by the NIRA, the code authority and the Illinois Industrial Recovery Act.

The suit, said to be the first of its kind in Illinois, was filed last week in the name of State's Attorney Zerweck in behalf of the State NRA Compliance Director. It alleged the brewery sold five half-barrels of beer last summer to an East St. Louis dealer at $6.25 each instead of $7, the posted code price. Hearing on a permanent injunction will be held later.

SHANNON, ILL., BANK HELD UP

Robbers Hide in Building, Seize Officials and Steal $1200.

FREEPORT, Ill., Nov. 19.—The First National Bank of Shannon, Ill., was robbed of $1200 today by three men who hid in the building last night and bound and gagged three officers when they arrived about 7:30 a. m.

President D. S. Hoy, Vice-President C. T. Williams and Cashier Frank Woessner were forced into a cloakroom, where the robbers stood guard over them until 8 a. m., the hour set on the bank vault's time clock. Woessner then was forced to open the vault.

FUNERAL OF JUSTICE DE YOUNG

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—State officials attended funeral services today for Justice Frederic R. De Young of the Illinois Supreme Court, who died Friday of an heart ailment. Headed by Gov. ## CHICAGO REAL ESTATE AGENT KILLED, APPARENTLY IN HOLDUP

Death Due to Blow on Head; Victim's Pockets Turned Inside Out.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—The body of Charles Frank Spearin, 59 years old, a real estate agent and former newspaper man, was found yesterday in a back yard far from his home. He had been killed apparently by robbers.

Spearin had received a check for $62 Saturday morning and had cashed it, but when his body was found there was no money in his pockets, which were turned inside out. Physicians said death was caused by a blow on the head.

Spearin formerly worked as a reporter, his widow said, on the old Chicago Record at the same time Harold L. Ickes, now Secretary of Interior, and Frederick William Wile, now connected with the Columbia Broadcasting System in Washington, also were employed on the paper. A letter from Wile was found on the body. In it Wile recalled the days with Spearin, Ickes and himself were newspaper men.

TIES ON WABASH BRIDGE AT ST. CHARLES IGNITED

Track Walkers and Others Put Out Fire Thought to Have Been Started by Engine.

Fire which is believed to have started from hot coals from a passenger train engine, yesterday ignited creosoted ties at the east end of the Wabash Railroad bridge at St. Charles.

Track walkers, who fought the flames with buckets of water taken from barrels kept on the bridge, were aided by volunteers and the St. Charles Fire Department, which hoisted a light hose 250 feet to the bridge deck. The ties will be replaced.

BENTON, Ill., Nov. 19.—Walter W. Sims, formerly publisher of the Christopher Progress and the Zeigler Item, and more recently publisher of the Chester Press, at Chester, Ill., has sold the latter to H. K. Browne of Mascoutah, Ill. It was announced here today.

KILLS WIFE AND SON-IN-LAW IN ROW AT DRINKING PARTY

Salt Lake City Man Then Makes Futile Effort to End His Life.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Nov. 19.—Charles B. Crowther, 61 years old, is held in jail for the killing of his wife and son-in-law, Marvin Belger, at a party. An attempt by Crowther to end his life with the same shotgun resulted only in the loss of part of his chin.

Police said witnesses told them Crowther became angry during what they described as a drinking party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Lott. Belger, witnesses said, attempted to disarm Crowther. A charge from the shotgun killed him instantly. Crowther then turned the weapon on Mrs. Crowther.

Police said Crowther told them there had been difficulties of a domestic nature between himself and Belger. He said the shooting of his wife was an "accident."

PLANE FOR PACIFIC FLIGHTS GIVEN AIR LICENSE TESTS

Flying Boat With Cruising Range of 3000 Miles Built as Experiment.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Nov. 19.—A flying boat with a cruising range of 3000 miles, built for experimental flights across the Pacific Ocean, is being tested here.

The ship, a Sikorsky, similar to the Brazilian Clipper, now operating on a South American route out of Miami, Fla., for Pan-American Airways, is known as "Clipper No. 5." After tests for Department of Commerce licenses this week, it will make an over-water flight to Miami, out of sight of land.

There at Pan-American Airways' main operating base, it will make other flights for the training of the crew. Shortly after the first of the year, the ship will be flown to California for the first of the experimental flights across the Pacific by way of Hawaii and the Philippines. Its fuel tanks will hold 2590 gallons of gasoline.

 School children are always told that Gettysburg was a battle between grown men and women should themselves to what extent the Government of, for and by the people, has succeeded and is a...
 How firmly have we established the Government of which we dreamed? Do the people manage their Government themselves, or do they only elect and applaud, according to whim, while others govern? Has Lincoln's dream of Government not "perished from the earth" because it never really started? Has there ever been a time when the people governed themselves? they govern themselves now? much power and influence? 121,500,000 of the country's 160,000,000 people in their Government in deciding what is done with or their money? Do you feel you have much to say about them?
 It is said that Seward, Lincoln's brilliant Secretary of State, said that he (Seward) should write Gettysburg speech for the president, and give Mr. Lincoln the credit of his superior ability. Seward had a good mind, but Lincoln possessed deeper sincerity, combined with complete humility and vision, and it is fortunate for the world that he decided to say what he had to say on the Gettysburg battlefield in his own way and on his own terms.
 It is planned, Washington, to convert millions of acres of economic land, worthless for farming, into a "hunter's paradise." On the millions of acres which will be encouraged to their families, that noble which may have the pleasure of shooting them.
 Civilization does progress slowly, when the richest, allegedly highly intellectual, plans an earthly paradise for himself, imitating the red Indians' heavenly hunting ground.

 We are living under a government of "initiation," of commissions indicated by filters of words that described called by the irreverent the "alphabet soup."

 That two-year item of $16,500,000 seems considerable, you remember that it is 10 as much as the total debt of the United States when the war began. Imagine how foreign feel when they learn that still spend $16,500,000,000 a year, after letting them say to themselves: "We moderate."

His date is Nov. 19, and it is an anniversary important to every American.

On this day 71 years ago, Abraham Lincoln stood on the Gettysburg battlefield, and, looking over the field where so many had died, he bore on both sides, expressed for the whole country its determination that Government of the people, for the people and by the people should not perish from the earth.

School children are always made to read that Gettysburg address; grown men and women should ask themselves to what extent that Government of, for and by the people has succeeded and is a reality.

How firmly have we established the Government of which Lincoln dreamed? Do the people really manage their Government for themselves, or do they only criticize and applaud, according to their whim, while others govern them? The Lincoln's dream of Government not "perished from the earth," because it never really started?

Has there ever been a time when men governed themselves? Do they govern themselves now? How much power and influence have 25,000,000 of the country's 123,000,000 people in their Government, and in deciding what is done with them or their money? Do you feel that you have much to say about it?

It is said that Seward, Lincoln's brilliant Secretary of State, felt that he (Seward) should write the Gettysburg speech for the President, and give Mr. Lincoln the benefit of his superior ability. Seward had a good mind, but Lincoln possessed deepest sincerity, combined with complete humility and devotion, and it is fortunate for the world that he decided to say what he had to say on the Gettysburg battlefield in his own way, unaided.

It is planned, Washington says, to convert millions of acres of unproductive land, worthless for farming, into a "hunter's paradise." In the millions of acres wild animals will be encouraged to raise their families; that noble white men may have the pleasure of shooting them.

Civilization does progress, but slowly when the richest, and an allegedly highly intellectual race, finds an earthly paradise for killing, imitating the red Indians' heavenly hunting ground.

What should we think of our alleged cousins, the gorillas, if they set aside a million acres of land in Africa for the purpose of breeding and killing human Africans?

We are living under a government of "initials," innumerable commissions indicated by first letters of words that describe them, called by the irreverent the administration's "alphabet soup."

A list of these initials, lately revised, runs from AAA to USIS. AAA means Agricultural Adjustment Administration. USIS means United States Information Service. Between AAA and USIS are 31 others, the most interesting, perhaps, SAFTT. Some will wonder what the "FT" stands for. The total stands for Special Adviser to the President on Foreign Trade. Most important are AAA, which deals with farmers, CCC, Commodity Credit Corporation, which hands out money, and NRA, or National Recovery Administration, which tells big and little business what to do and how to do it.

Thirty-three sets of initials, all with employees drawing good salaries, and all industriously spending the public money; you cannot doubt that results will come.

When you speak of spending, bear in mind that the administration has still a right to be amazed at its own moderation.

On Jan. 5 last, President Roosevelt planned spending $16,500,000,000 in two years, to end June 30, 1935. Spending has fallen below this estimate by hundreds of millions, and during the rest of this fiscal year, to keep up with his program, the President must spend on depression and reconstruction $6,800,000,000.

That two-year item of $16,500,000,000 seems considerable when you remember that it is 16½ times as much as the total debt of the United States when the war began.

Imagine how foreign countries feel when they learn that we can still spend $16,000,000,000 in two years, after letting them "borrow" and keep $10,000,000,000. They must say to themselves: "We were too moderate."

France considers modification of its method fixing the price of wheat. This country endeavors to increase wheat prices, and the farmer's income, by paying farm-

Aroused Pride Often Brings About Ambition

An Incapable Husband Is Never Helped by Indulging His Helplessness.

By Martha Carr

My husband has never been able to make a living. Even when he was working we only had bare necessities, and now he is out of work entirely, although he has a fair education and is capable of work and takes care of himself, as I work and take care of myself, as I have no children, but after I pay my board there is not much left. He thinks manual labor too hard for him. He has to live with relatives. I give him a little money now and then when he especially needs it for something, but when he takes money from me without seeming to think much about it, it rather lowers my opinion of him as a man.

Some of my friends say that I should not work and then he would have to, but I don't want to give up my job and then have to depend on relatives myself. My folks would get a divorce. But it seems to me to make him more blue and discouraged by leaving him when he is in trouble. It seems he needs something to make him more settled and ambitious.

What do you think? Am I being too lenient with him, or do you think I do, that it is bad enough to let him go down and out, without losing the faith of your wife too? Do you think it any use to go on and try to make something out of our married life? That is what I want to do. "Discouraged."

You are to be commended for your patience and forbearance. While financial trouble brings on others and is most trying to those who have industry, honesty and ambition, it isn't the worst thing that can befall a married couple who love each other. There are and always have been, men, good, attractive and fine in other ways who simply are not money-makers. For some reason, perhaps it is physical or mental, they are unwilling to endure any kind of business tension, and where work doesn't come easily, they are willing to sit down and let someone else look after them. Your best chance is to arouse your husband's pride. Perhaps this will give him some ambition. But one thing is sure, you will never help by giving him any business tension. Let him feel the pinch of doing without and do not feel sorry for him in this case and indulge him as a mother would a small boy. At least, he can try physical labor—and do not yearn over him when he comes home tired. I certainly would not give up my job until he can prove some sort of metal.

Dear Mrs. Carr:
I would value your opinion very much. Like others, I think myself in love. But I have picked up a mentally superior and much older man. He is a teacher in a high school of which I am a senior. This man is of very unusual type of character and quite young looking and acting. He is a brilliant personality and has been quite successful socially and financially. He has shown a more than usual interest in me outside of school activities but never anything personal. I thought I merely had a crush, but now, after the summer and beginning of fall semester, I am getting "deeper and deeper," though I have tried to deny little rumors that ran through my brain. Now I think, talk, eat and breathe—the professor.

I am only 16 years old. I really believe if he thought about it, he would care as much as I. This has been going on for a year and is becoming to get on my nerves. Can you think of any way I can let him know I'm alive without making a fool of myself? Have any such cases ever worked out?

A STUDENT

This is not a new affliction among young girls who happen to be in the classes of a fairly active "professor." But you couldn't very well do a hand-spring or send notes to the professor, in order to make him discover you. Probably he already knows you. If he knew of your particular case and happened to have some common sense as well, just pat you on the head and say, "Be of good cheer; you'll recover."

Seriously, you would better have a session with your mother about this. Your studies will suffer, if you are not of the age to get in graduate after having nurtured this secret sorrow, you may wish that you had been more self-contained.

No, I do not think it would work out, even if he learns of the "strange attraction," because you are too young to stay put.

Dear Mrs. Carr:
ANY girls between the ages of 18 and 21 wishing to play basketball, I should like to have written to me, as I would like to get in touch with some who want to join in the game. I will leave my address with you. A. B. B. PLAYER.

A Refuge for Homeless Women

By Fay Proflet

THIS is a story of homeless women—women who come from the glamour of social life, timidly asking if they may keep just one of their antique chairs; women of culture, holding a book or a picture that means much to them; women who all their lives have been sheltered, carrying a box holding a china tea set or a piece of old silver and women who have managed to hang on alone for 30 or 40 years, clutching a worn fur neckpiece or a button box filled with odds and ends—all homeless and receiving aid from the Bureau for Women.

This agency is the product of the depression. Until 1931 women who needed assistance were helped by family relief societies. In that year, however, the problem was beginning to grow to such proportions that it was decided to set up an agency to specialize in helping the unattached woman.

According to records the number of families requiring relief since the establishing of the Bureau for Women has multiplied 10 times, the number of homeless men 18 times but the number of women turning to the welfare agencies for help has increased 25 times.

Mrs. Gertrude Force, director of the Bureau for Women, now at 3817 Olive street, started three years ago with a desk in the office of the Citizen's Application Bureau where new relief applications were taken. She had 64 needy women to assist and to counsel at the beginning. The number grew rapidly as the full force of the depression was felt. The staff of the Bureau had to be increased and separate quarters found.

The 500 women now receiving help from the Bureau for Women represent many social backgrounds and walks of life. A study of 435 women who applied for the first time during 1933 revealed the fact that most of them in normal times managed to support themselves. Half of them are between 30 and 50 years of age, the group between 35 and 45 being especially large. About a fifth are under 30, leaving 30 per cent about evenly divided between the 50 and 60-year-old group and the over 60 group. Slightly more than one-third are widows, another third are separated from their husbands, while the remainder are single, divorced or deserted. Only 17 per cent have never been married. Two-thirds did not finish grade school, and 5 per cent had no schooling at all. But 14 out of every hundred had attended high school or college. Ninety-nine per cent are native born Americans and 98 per cent have been residents of St. Louis for more than a year.

This is because many of these women have been taken care of by friends or relatives, who feel that they can no longer assume the burden. Many of these women have been sleeping on the davenport in the living room or on a couch in the dining room, hoping it would be or the using of this material would be much appreciated. BERTHA.

Dear Mrs. Carr:
I N answer to "18 Years Old," I want to say I myself, wanted to commit suicide—but thought it over. I have had experience in three kinds of work, yet can get no work. They all tell you the same. "Nothing today."

I was wondering if we single girls could get together and form an organization to go to the factory and offices and pull out every woman who has a husband to support her. If we could do that, I think the depression would be practically over. It would give single girls a chance in life. When we want to get married, we have nothing saved—nothing in our Hope Chest, so that we may start out. Mrs. Carr, do you think it possible? JUST DISGUSTED.

I am afraid violence would not help very long. And then—how would you determine whether or not the woman's husband was supporting her? You would have to get some very elusive facts together before you would feel justified in routing a certain class forcibly. The times are such, and woman's responsibilities have changed so much, that it is hard to make any sweeping accusation. We know that wrongs exist, that it would be the kindest thing for those who do not need employment to make way for those who do. Perhaps some day we shall see these things equalized. But Utopia seems just a little bit beyond us just now.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest but, of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

MRS. GERTRUDE FORCE.

The latter group according to an emergency arrangement until to those in charge of the bureau is the most difficult to help. It consists mostly of women who have been in comfortable circumstances and even well-to-do, who, through financial losses have been left stranded. Knowing no trade, unaccustomed to work and often advanced in years, they feel utterly helpless. Some of them make a brave effort to adjust to the new world in which they find themselves, and helped by the bureau to find employment eventually solve their problem. Others feel inadequate to grapple with their fate, and it requires the utmost tact, ingenuity and persistence on the part of the bureau workers to keep them trying.

"The type of woman who has been better days is accounting for an increasing share of the total number receiving relief," said Mrs. Force. "In the new applications being received this year, this group would account for a substantially larger share than the 6 per cent in last year's computation who were put down as 'no trade or profession.' This is because many of these women have been taken care of by friends or relatives, who feel that they can no longer assume the burden. Many of these women have been sleeping on the davenport in the living room or on a couch in the dining room, hoping it would be of the Bureau for Women is to arouse a desire and a need for independence and self-reliance. One woman came to the bureau, telling how harshly life had dealt with her, and to demonstrate it, held up her hands, exclaiming, 'Just look at my mended gloves.' When clerical work was found for her at a hospital she refused to eat with her fellow-employees. Getting her to adjust her life to new life is a hard task and just one of the 5000 human problems the bureau has to worry about.

"The bureau, while faced with the necessity of adjusting women of this type to a lower standard of living than they have known before, does not try to save pennies on the relief of the working girl at the expense of spoiling her prospects of finding a new job. For a stenographer out of work, a tidy appearance may mean the difference of finding a job and getting out of relief or staying on relief more or less indefinitely. Some business girls, for instance, are ashamed to wear a fur coat if they have one."

ONE day Mrs. Force met one of the women under the care of the bureau, an unemployed stenographer. The girl was neatly dressed, her ensemble including a fur coat acquired when she had a position. She was obviously embarrassed, but Mrs. Force quickly reassured her. "How nice you are looking," Mrs. Force said. "Why don't you look that way all the time? You may get a job."

The girl was much encouraged. Mrs. Force in recalling the story commented that it would be foolish to require girls like that to sell their clothes for the few dollars they would bring and perhaps forfeit for a long time to come the chances of employment.

"Comparatively few of the women look to marriage as a 'way out,'" said Mrs. Force. "Some of them frankly assert that their choice would be limited to widowers with three or four children, 'and then,' they say, 'my troubles would really begin.' Many women in time of idleness and trouble turn to writing as an emotional outlet. Many write stories or scenarios or their autobiography or reflections on what life has done to them. Much of the output is unpromising, but some of the women under the care of the bureau have occasionally sold articles to a women's magazine for $1 or $5."

The Bureau for Women has two temporary shelter homes, one for white and one for Negro women, where those in need of emergency shelter are housed until plans for future care can be made. Often care is eventually arranged for them with relatives or friends, but many pay a modest amount for board. The aim is to see that girls and women in need have as normal life as is possible, and being with those near them helps. If they are placed in a rooming house, the bureau tries to arrange, especially in the case of the younger women, that there is a parlor where friends may be received.

"It is useless to expect persons down on their luck to give up all the pleasures of life," said Mrs. Force. "And even if it were desired, most people would find some way to get around the restrictions placed on them."

Idle Fears Often Make Children's Lives Wretched

By Mrs. Brooke P. Church

"DON'T walk in that long grass, Tommy, you might step on a snake."

"Take care of the dog, Jane, he might bite you."

"No, Susy, don't pat the horse. Horses kick."

"John, please keep out of that tree. It makes me nervous to see you climb so high. If you fell you'd break your neck."

The number of children who are hampered and held back by nervous mothers seems greater today than ever before. Time was when small boys and girls could get out of sight of their elders and try stunts without fear of interference. But so small has the world grown that most children have to live in the public eye and behave with proper caution.

Half the fears will never be realized. Children walked unharmed in grass and were never bitten by snakes even when there were snakes and horses are seldom vicious. The number of children killed or injured by falls out of trees is quite small.

And for such futile, idle fears, mothers will risk making their children's lives wretched. For a coward's life is wretched. He is pursued by fears, hindered from enjoying many of the pleasures and often obligations of life by improbable possibilities.

It is often hard for an anxious mother to control the expression of her fears. But if she is wise and has the child's best interests at heart, she will teach her child to face and grit her teeth to keep from interfering, or if necessary will go out of sight where she is not tempted to protest. Better to endure the agony one's self than to transfer the same terrors to the children.

Fear of Death By Those Who Flee From Life

Many People Suffer Spiritual Decay by Avoiding Adventure.

By Elsie Robinson.

I WONDER why we're so afraid to die. Why, facing death, do we all sob and rave? Yet, every day, we hide within some grave!

And, every day, avoiding loss or strife, we close our brains and seal our hearts to life!

The dead are buried deep within the clay; But are the dead more shut away Than they Who spend their lives in dreams of Yesterday—

Or seek escape from present risk and sorrow By building Spanish castles in Tomorrow?

The sleeping dead can no more hear or see; But are the dead more deaf or blind Than we?

Who have sound ears and eyes, yet daily dodge and flee All sights or sounds which menace our complacency?

The dead are strange—their flesh is cold and pale— Their blood no longer leaps to life's fierce hail—

Nor years to follow down her reckless trail And yet, I wonder—are the dead more strange Than those who live, yet are afraid to die?

Those coward spirits who'll not even give A hearing to Life's challenge— But who step aside from all adventure lest the world deride! Worms gnaw the dead, they say— But is there worse decay Than that which comes before we pass away?

Or fouler horror than the things we breed Through our own fright? Fat, secret worms of laziness and greed, Conceit, intolerance and spite, Which feed on living brains and leave them dead, indeed.

To all life's wonder and delight? I WONDER WHY WE'RE SO AFRAID TO DIE, AND YET SO OFTEN SEEK A GRAVE IN LIFE?

Your Year Ahead. If today is your birthday be careful with your capital after Dec. 8 and co-operate strictly in home and with competitors. If you build well in the 12 months ahead, you can begin to realize on your work, particularly after Sept. 7 next year. Keep away from unproven "opportunities." Danger: Aug. 31 to Oct. 22.
